Storm Nearing Coast

Hurricane Seen Forming Off of Southern Coast Of Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—A new tropical storm with winds of 65 miles per hour roared today toward Louisiana coastal lowlands which hurricane Audrey ravaged and sent residents fleeing in droves to higher ground.

The storm was expected to reach hurricane strength as it moved closer to shore today.

Gales tossed the disabled tug Whitman No. 5 in the rough waters of Pass A Loutre in the Mississippi delta with possibly three men aboard. The U.S. Coast Guard sent a cutter to its aid.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in a special bulletin located the center of this second tropical whirler of the year about 160 miles southeast of Lake Charles, La., and said it was moving between a west and northwesterly direction at 10 to 12 miles per hour.

"Get Out Fast"

The Weather Bureau ordered a hurricane watch for the western Louisiana and upper Texas coasts and authorities warned residents of lowland areas, "Get out fast!"

Streams of cars and trucks during the night clogged highways leading from the low country in which Hurricane Audrey late last June claimed hundreds of lives.

Winds rose to 30 or 40 miles per hour along the Louisiana coast before dawn and tides up to six feet were expected to crash against the shores during the morning.

The whirler appeared for the moment to be aimed either at Cameron, where more than 500 persons died before Audrey's onslaught last June 27, or at Galveston, Tex., or somewhere in between them.

This prediction was unofficial. Weather Bureau officials, wise to the many unforeseeable shifts in a tropical storm's behavior, refused to pinpoint any mainland "target."

Orders Hurricane Watch

Instead, the Weather Bureau ordered a "hurricane watch" along the Louisiana and upper Texas coasts.

Sheriff O. B. Carter said residents of the Louisiana lowland areas began a swift, orderly retreat that was expected to empty most of the small fishing towns dotting the area.

"Everyone is leaving," he said "We didn't have to urge too much. When we announced a new storm you could see the understanding written on their faces."

The sheriff and several others remained behind in Cameron's court house, one of the few buildings that withstood Audrey's tidal wave, to keep the town's power generator running.

Refugees streamed out of Golden Meadow, which lies six inches below sea level about 20 miles north of the Gulf shore. More than 200 men, women and children fled in trucks and cars.

Louis Rodriguez, a newsman from Larose, said the people were afraid "it will be Cameron all over again."

Arrest Charleroi Man for Lottery

A Charleroi man was arrested yesterday by State Police on lottery charges.

Steve C Ritz, 39, of 606 Lookout Ave., Charleroi, was apprehended along a highway in Dunbar Twp. near Connellsville, according to troopers from the Uniontown barracks.

Number slips found in his car were confiscated, police said.

Ritz, who was arrested May 27 near Perryopolis on a similar charge, waived a hearing before Uniontown Alderman Robert McCormick to await the next term of Fayette County Court.

He was released under $500 bond.

LOOK PLEASED OVER CIVIL RIGHTS PASSAGE — These senators look pleased in Washington after passage of civil rights bill, on which all voted "aye" It's the first the Senate has passed in more than 75 years. From left: Richard B. Russell (D), Georgia, who led the fight against the bill; Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D), Wyoming; Lyndon Johnson (D), Texas; William Knowland (R), California; Clinton Anderson (D), New Mexico. The bill went back to the House for further wrangling.

Rayburn Backs Senate Version Of Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn threw his support today to the Senate's amended civil rights bill. He called on Republican leaders to help Democrats pass it.

The veteran Texas Democrat, who heretofore has kept silent on the hot civil rights issue, said he will ask the House to concur in changes made by the Senate in the much stronger civil rights measure passed earlier by the House.

He will not object, Rayburn said, if members want to make one additional change in the bill: to limit the Senate's controversial jury trial amendment to criminal contempt cases arising under terms of the bill. That would limit the amendment's application to voting rights cases.

Dixie Democrats in the House had planned stalling moves which they hoped would delay the civil rights bill until Congress gave up and went home.

But Rayburn said it is entirely up to the Republicans whether the right-to-vote measure is to be enacted. He said Republicans are in position to help pass the bill, or to block it, through their four-man representation on the powerful House Rules Committee.

Dismiss Charges Against State Tax Officials

HARRISBURG (UP) — Charges of financial irregularities made against three employes of the Montgomery County office of the state Inheritance Tax Department have been dismissed as "old hat" by the Revenue Department.

State Auditor General Charles C. Smith Thursday accused John S. Quarry Sr. and Mrs. Anna E. Maley of receiving mileage expenses although they do not own automobiles and Wallace J. Reid of being absent 66 days during 1956 with no deductions made in his salary for excess leave. Smith charged the trio collected a total $7,278 from 1955 to last June.

Deputy Revenue Secretary S. Allen Sulcowe countered he investigated the matter several months ago. He said Quarry and Mrs. Maley produced signed statements that their travel expense receipts were turned over to relatives who had driven them on state business. Sulcowe added that Reid was found to have exceeded allowable leave by 2½ days in 1956 and a deduction was made in his salary.

Testifies AFL Auto Workers Paid Dio

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee was told today that the AFL Auto Workers union paid racketeer Johnny Dio "organization expenses" totalling $16,000 when the New York hoodlum ostensibly bowed out of the labor movement in 1954.

Morris Weintraub, then a regional director for the union, said he agreed to the payment when called by UAW-AFL President Earl Heaton in what apparently amounted to an informal poll. He said he specified that Dio should present receipts for the "organizational" work which he said he had done in New York.

Weintraub testified that he understood the payment was to be $10,000. Not until he was contacted by rackets committee investigator, Weintraub said, did he know that $16,000 had been paid.

Weintraub's testimony shed some light on one of the many subjects on which Dio claimed the Fifth Amendment Thursday.

Refuses to Talk

Dio refused to testify about a $16,000 check, dated December, 1954, made out to him by the union secretary-treasurer, and endorsed with his name. Committee Counsel said, at that time, that the check had been described as a reimbursement to Dio for money advanced to Local 22 of the UAW-AFL which Dio come to control.

The committee sent the tight-lipped Dio back to the jail from which it borrowed him, after he invoked the Fifth Amendment about 140 times, and tabbed as its next witness Earl Heaton, outgoing president of the Allied Industrial Workers of America. The group is a catch-all outfit formerly known as the AFL United Auto Workers.

The committee charged that Dio roosted his racketeers in this union's locals, then transferred them into seven memberless "paper locals" of the Teamsters Union in order to help his friend James R. Hoffa, teamster vice president, win control of the Teamsters organization in New York.

Brownsville Lock Study Okayed

The Senate yesterday approved an appropriation bill which would allocate $50,000 for the study of plans for a new lock and dam at Brownsville.

The money was part of $9,615,000 authorized for flood control projects in Pennsylvania.

Since the House of Representatives has already passed a similar measure, the appropriations are practically assured.

Both the Senate and House versions okayed the lock study at Brownsville to replace the existing structure.

Weiss Will Be Sworn as County Judge on Friday

The swearing in of David H Weiss, of Monessen, as a judge of Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court, will be held next Friday instead of Wednesday, it was announced today.

The ceremonies are being delayed to give Weiss more time to "clean up" his private law practice. State law requires Weiss to give up his private practice before he can take the oath as judge.

Weiss is an assistant district attorney, solicitor for the City of Monessen, the Monessen School District the Rostraver Township School District and the Rostraver Township Road Supervisors. He must resign these positions.

Weiss told a reporter that the swearing-in ceremonies will "positively" take place Friday.

It had been hoped that the ceremonies could take place Wednesday — the birthday of County Judge John M. O'Connell, a close friend of Weiss.

Gov. George M. Leader Tuesday appointed Weiss to fill the vacancy created by the death of George H. McWherter. His appointment runs until the first Monday in January, 1958 He will seek a 10-year term in the November general election.

Steel Official Denies Industry-Wide Price Fix

WASHINGTON (UP) — Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., denied today there was an industry-wide agreement to hike the price of steel $6-a-ton July 1.

Blough suggested to Senate investigators that they ask the other producers why they increased their prices the same amount and at the same time as his company. He said a price-fixing arrangement would be illegal.

As Blough was testifying before the Senate Anti-trust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), the AFL-CIO Policy Committee said the steel price rise could not be attributed to increased labor costs.

The union committee said in a monthly news letter "the record clearly indicates that soaring steel prices since 1947 . . . have been based on the industry's drive for large and widening profit margins — for huge financial resources within the corporations."

Kefauver asked Blough if the increase wasn't $10 or $8 or some other amount.

Blough said all the circumstances at the time indicated that a proper increase was $6. He said he read in a New York paper that Kefauver was planning to ask a "trap question" like that.

Blough, a grandfatherly-looking 54, was calm but anything but a docile witness. He said he has difficulty communicating with his own industry officials and even more when senators come into the picture.

New Funeral Home Opened in Monessen

The public is invited to inspect the newly erected Robert A. Billick Funeral Home located at the intersection of Grand Blvd. and Marion Ave. in Monessen.

Robert A. Billick, funeral director, said the modern funeral home will be open for viewing from 1 to 9 p. m. tomorrow and Sunday.

The two-story stone and brick building with aluminum siding has seven rooms, including individual chapels and reception rooms and offices. Billick and his wife live in an apartment upstairs.

The interior of the home, which is air-conditioned throughout, has wall-to-wall carpeting and the latest in electrical lighting systems. There is also a public address sound system. Outside there are ample facilities for parking.

The building had been under construction about a year. The

Dunlevy Man Hurt in Accident

Michael Habura, 62, of Dunlevy, is in fair condition in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today after suffering severe lacerations about the head in a mysterious accident yesterday.

Police Chief Charles Hazlett, of Speers, found Habura lying along Route 88 near the Speers-Dunlevy borough line. Hazlett said he could have been hit by a train or a car. Habura has not yet told police what happened.

Former City Patrolman Appeals His Dismissal

Credit Union at Donora Zinc Works Is Now Liquidating

The Donora Zinc Works Federal Credit Union is in the process of liquidating its funds, it was learned from FCU officials yesterday.

The savings and loan institution hopes to complete the liquidation before the Donora Zinc Works plant ceases operations around Nov. 1 of this year.

The liquidation is a result of an announcement last July 9 that U. S. Steel's American Steel & Wire Division plant in Donora will discontinue operating its zinc works, with the exception of the sulphuric acid plant.

The shutdown will affect 450 employes, most of them members of the FCU.

No Withdrawals

During the liquidation, FCU officials said, members cannot withdraw their savings nor can they make deposits. The office will be open only to accept payments on loans.

An FCU spokesman said that when the liquidation is completed "all stockholders will get their money back dollar for dollar-or even more."

He pointed out that the Donora FCU is in "excellent financial condition."

He said the liquidation is required by federal law.

Mexican Worker Nabs Thief with Novel Scheme

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — There are more ways than one to skin a cat, as pointed out by Carlos Rosales, chief of the Bexar district attorney's office complaint section.

Rosales tells of a Mexican laborer who came to him wanting to file a complaint against a neighbor of stealing $70. The man said he left his wallet in a room of the "Corral," where some 15 families live.

Police told him it would be virtually impossible to find the wallet among the 15 families in the Corral.

The complainant told Rosales "Mebbe so. I do something about it myself." He left.

Rosales said the man wrote a note and placed it in the room where he lost his purse. It read: "I know you stole my money, but that is all right. It was worth it. I've been dating your wife."

He waited patiently, and within four hours his wife called and said "Come quick, Juan is beating up Maria."

The complainant gathered with the rest of his neighbors and watched Juan beat up his wife.

Finally, Rosales says, Juan looked up at the complainant and said "You're the — who's been dating my wife."

"And you're the — who stole my $70, the man retorted.

Rosales says "Sure enough, he was the man. Juan had the note in his pocket, and agreed to repay the money if the complainant wouldn't file charges against him."

Martin Subpenaed In Libel Trial Of Confidential

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Crooner Dean Martin was the newest addition today to the jittery ranks of Hollywood celebrities who have been subpenaed for the criminal libel trial of Confidential Magazine. And more are due to be called.

Martin was served with a subpena late Thursday to appear at the trial, which may turn out to be the biggest courtroom spectacle in movieland history.

The subpena was served on Martin at his Beverly Hills home by private detective Fred Otash, who said he had about "20 or 30 more" to be served on celebrities.

Martin's name was added to the list of nearly 100 who already have been summoned to testify for the defense whether spicy stories about them printed in Confidential were true.

Actor Tab Hunter, through his attorney Gilbert D. Seton, seeks today to get out of appearing as a witness. Seton, before today's session of the trial starts, will ask Judge Herbert V. Walker to quash Hunter's subpena.

The other subpenaed stars watched Hunter's move closely hoping for a favorable ruling that might provide the same exit from possible embarrassing moments on the witness stand.

Brownsville Youth Claims He's Too Young for Jail

A unidentified Brownsville youth was in Fayette County jail, Uniontown, today and authorities said he'll stay there until he proves his age.

The youth was arrested yesterday by Brownsville police and charged with assault and battery, surety of the peace and disorderly conduct.

He claimed to be under 18 years of age, but tatoo marks indicated that he may have served in the Army, police said.

He was arrested for allegedly striking John G. Jennings, of Brownsville as Jennings walked out of a Brownsville store. Jennings suffered a broken tooth, police said.

The youth carried no identification. If he proves he's under 18, police said they will turn him over to juvenile authorities.

Contractor in Alleged Cinder Fraud Under Bond

FRACKVILLE, Pa. (UP) —Victor Prep, owner of the Prep Contracting Co. of Frackville, one of four persons accused of a series of alleged frauds in the granting of highway cindering contracts, was released in $15,000 bail Thursday night.

Prep was arrianged before a justice of the peace here on charges of conspiracy and false pretenses.

Gov. George M. Leader disclosed Tuesday that the state justice and highways departments had uncovered the alleged frauds amounting to at least $45,000 during 1955 and 1956.

In addition to Prep, Leader named three former county highways superintendents: Frank S. Jamieson, Chester County; Philip J. Price, Lancaster County, and John Crerand, York County.

The investigation of cindering contracts began last February following a tip from Peter Stevenson, city editor of the Lock Haven Express.

Leader said 19 other counties in which the Prep firm had cindering contracts still were being investigated.

Convict Killed In Gun Battle; Two Cops Hurt

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—A gun battle ranging from a hotel lobby to a 12th floor room left one man dead, and two policemen and a young housewife wounded.

Everett Sparks, 30, Forest Grove, Ore., an ex-convict and suspected check forger, was found dead in his hotel room Thursday after a fusillade of police bullets ripped through his door. A coroner's report today is expected to show whether he took his own life or was killed by police.

Sparks apparently tried to pay his bill, then opened fire in the crowded lobby of the Sheraton-Lincoln Hotel when a desk clerk became suspicious. Sparks shot Det. Sgt. James Partain four times, winged Mrs. Constance Ciale, 19, Crawfordsville, Ind., then took over an elevator and barricaded himself in his room.

Tear gas was used against him, routing hundreds of hotel guests. Sparks fired through his door and wounded another policeman. The police returned fire.

UMW District Meeting Begins

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A. Dennis Lewis, brother of United Mine Workers president John L. Lewis, headed a list of UMW District 50 officials at a regional meeting which opened here today.

About 250 UMW directors and representatives from Pittsburgh west to the Pacific Coast and attended the meting, according to Thomas Dunn, regional District 50 director.

A. Dennis Lewis, who is president of District 50, will be principal speaker at a dinner meeting tonight.

Panepinto Asks to Be Reinstated

A petition appealing the firing of Philip Panepinto as a Monessen policeman was filed in Westmoreland County Courts late this morning.

Judge John M. O'Connell immediately set Thursday, Aug. 22, as the date to hear the appeal.

Submitted by Attorney Louis Manderino, of Monessen, the petition states that Panepinto "believes that he has suffered an injustice" and requests a hearing protesting his dismissal from the force on July 12.

Panepinto was fired as a patrolman on the recommendation of Mayor Hugo J. Parente at a hearing before City Council.

Parente charged Panepinto with failure to make hourly calls to police headquarters and "sleeping on duty."

The ousted policeman did not deny the first charge entirely. He did, however, deny the "sleeping on duty" charge, claiming he "was not sleeping but relaxing" when seen in a parked taxicab by Lt. Joseph Reday. Panepinto also claimed that he "wasn't feeling well" at the time.

Wants Reinstated

The petition asks the court "that the City of Monessen and its proper officials be ordered and directed" to reinstate Panepinto as a member of the Police Department.

The petition also states, that his discharge "was contrary to the facts and contrary to the law."

Friends of Panepinto have openly stated that they believe he was fired from the force because he reportedly opposed the reelection of Parente in the May primary.

Parente defeated Stieska for the Democratic nomination, but Stieska won the Republican nomination, although the latter contest is in litigation.

Parente, however, has denied that Panepinto's firing was for political reasons, stating the latter violated regulations of the department.

FOP Assisting

Panepinto is being assisted in his appeal by the Monongahela Valley Chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police. The FOP last Friday held a special meeting and voted to give financial assistance for Panepinto's legal needs.

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka, of Monessen, treasurer of the FOP, is opposing the FOP's aid, stating Panepinto "is not a member of good standing" and therefore is ineligible to receive any of the chapter's benefits.

Kuvinka initiated the charges which resulted in Panepinto's ouster.

67 Persons Safe as Pilot Nurses Plane 1,000 Miles

HILO, Hawaii (UP) — A handsome pilot refused today to take any personal credit for nursing his crippled plane more than 1,000 miles over the choppy Pacific to a safe landing with 67 persons aboard.

Instead, Maj. Samuel Tyson, 37, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Vacaville, Calif., insisted his passengers, including 10 women, deserved all the praise for their determination to stay calm.

"They suffered untold miseries and discomforts with no complaint," Tyson said after landing his four-engine Boeing C97 at Hilo's Lyman Airport Wednesday on its two starboard engines.

"They watched their baggage being thrown overboard and they were fully aware of the situation—and they remained calm," he said.

Tyson himself gave an inspiring exhibition of courage and nerve. But the strain of holding his aircraft aloft for nearly six hours on only two engines told on him.

"I snapped my watchband straining at the wheel and I was soaked with sweat when we finally landed," he said.

Tyson had 30 minutes of gas remaining in his tanks—enough for three more passes at the airfield had he failed in his initial attempt to land.

Air Force officers said Tyson's decision to drop his plane to altitudes ranging between 50 and 100 feet was what enabled him to make land. By dropping so low, he picked up a 20-knot tailwind that spelled the difference between a safe landing and a ditching on empty tanks.

In Washington, Lt. Gen. Joseph Smith, head of the Military Air Transport Service, said he will recommend a Distinguished Flying Cross for the heroic pilot. Smith sent Tyson a telegram to advise him of the recommendation.

The MATS C97, military counterpart of the double decked Boeing Stratocruiser, had taken off from Travis Air Force Base, 50 miles north of San Francisco, early Thursday for Honolulu.

Aboard were 39 servicemen and 18 civilians, including 10 women dependents and two babies. There were 10 crewmen.

The plane had just passed the point of no return on its 2,400-mile flight when the outboard port engine began running wild. A few moments later, it flew off, striking its companion engine on the same wing and putting it out of commission.

FBI Tries to Decode Messages of Red Spy

30 Agents Work on Spy Notes

BULLETIN

New York (UP) — Accused Russian spy Rudolf Ivanovich Abel was ordered held without bail today for a federal court hearing next Tuesday. He asked for the delay so he could secure an attorney.

NEW YORK (UP)—Thirty FBI agents today tried to decipher a series of coded messages and cryptic notes found in the hotel room and studio of master Soviet spy Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel.

The investigators were hopeful that the messages and notes would lead them to an important discovery and perhaps to additional conspirators in the latest unveiled Soviet espionage ring.

Government investigators doubted that the 55-year-old Russian secret police official, who masqueraded for nine years as a down-and-out artist-photographer, would talk. But they anticipated incriminating testimony from his chief aide, Soviet Lt. Col. Reino Haynanen, who defected to the West after years as a Russian spy.

Haynanen, named as a co-conspirator in the indictment against Abel, was reported in government custody at an undisclosed hideaway. He is expected to be the key witness at Abel's trial, probably in October.

Long Delay

Authorities indicated the long delay was necessary to give Abel time to obtain counsel. If convicted, he could receive the death penalty under the so-called Rosenberg espionage law.

Abel, a 30-year veteran of Soviet intelligence, was to be arraigned today in Brooklyn federal court on a charge of masterminding a spy network that transmitted American defense secrets to Russia. Accompanied by two federal marshals, the mild-mannered Russian colonel arrived at Newark Airport late Thursday night by plane from Houston, Tex., then was spirited to the federal detention center here.

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH UHERCIK

Joseph Uhercik, 78, of 301 McKean Ave., Charleroi, died yesterday at 8 a. m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mr. Uhercik lived in Monessen until seven years ago, when he moved to Charleroi. He was born in Hungary, June 25, 1879.

Urges Legion to Push Korean War Bonus

HARRISBURG (UP) — Lt. Gov. Roy E Furman today told the 39th annual state convention of the American Legion that the job of putting across the need for a state bonus for Korean War veterans will be difficult.

Furman said "an honest and sincere campaign" will be required if the voters are to approve the $150,000,000 bonus at the ballot box in November. He said the Legion can be a "tremendous factor" in assuring the voters' approval of the project.

The annual conclave of ex-servicemen rode into its third day as the organization's "fun and frolic" adjunct the "40 and 8" concluded its part of the program. Thursday night the familiar "toots" of the miniature locomotives which are the label of the group sounded through Harrisburg in the wake of its annual parade.

Elected President

Frank D. Berman, of Emporium was elected grand chef de gare (president) of the "40 and 8". Other officers named were Dr. L. I. Lathrop, Emporium, grand correspondent; George W. Conney, Johnstown, alternate cheminot nationale; Joe Bottone, Bradford, grand conducteur, and F. C. M. Sier, Huntingdon, grand chef de train.

Today 21 drum and bugle corps from all sections of the state compete for more than $10,000 in prizes. The field is the largest in the history of the state convention. Winner of the senior competition will lead the Legion's gigantic parade through downtown Harrisburg Saturday in the wind-up of the sessions.

John W. Collins, Connellsville auto accessory dealer, is considered all but certain to be elected to succeed Joseph P. Gavenonis, of Mildred, Sullivan County, as state commander.. Mrs. A. L. Westbrook, of Huntingdon appears to be the choice to head the Legion's state auxiliary.

On Thursday the convention endorsed resolutions favoring absentee balloting and a loyalty oath for all persons in public offices and positions of public trust. However, it rejected other resolutions which would have put the organization on record in favor of a constitutional amendment to permit Pennsylvania's governor to serve more than one term and in opposition to "all forms of legalized gambling". Other resolutions come up for consideration today.

Congress To Approve Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—The new compromise $3,366,000,000 foreign aid bill today apparently headed for swift congressional approval.

Chairman Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he would try to bring the measure up for a vote this afternoon. He predicted passage.

Fast action also was expected in the House.

A House-Senate conference committee reported out the measure Thursday night. It carried an authorization just about half way between differing Senate and House versions.

It provided about a half billion dollars less than asked by President Eisenhower.

The bill only authorizes the big military and economic aid program for the current fiscal year. A later bill will provide the actual cash.

Some lawmakers predicted Congress will take another big bite out of the program to bring it down to about three billion before they are through with it.

Postal: Democratic and Republican leaders predicted quick House passage for the administration - approved postage rate increase bill and a measure to raise the pay of 967,000 government workers. The administration opposes the pay raise measure on grounds it might create inflationary pressures and delay eventual tax reductions. The postage bill would boost letter rates a penny and increase other postage charges.

Money: The Senate passed a $884 150,323 appropriation bill to finance reclamation and rivers and harbors projects this year. The bill carried nearly eight million dollars more than President Eisenhower requested. It now goes to a House-Senate conference committee.

British Claim Russia Supplying Arms to Arabs

LONDON (UP) — The British Foreign Office said today Soviet Russia had sent half a dozen shiploads of arms and 50 military instructors to Yene, the second front in Arabia's rumbling desert warfare.

Yemen is the little-known Arabian kingdom whose tribesmen have been embroiled in a series of border skirmishes with British-protected Aden troops while more-publicized fighting rates in Oman.

An official British spokesman said British intelligence has information that six or seven shiploads of Soviet weapons and ammunitions have reached Yemen since the beginning of this year.

The supplies include Russian T-34 tanks, other arms and a number of piston-engine aircraft, the spokesman said. He added that about 50 Soviet instructors also went to Yemen to advise the tribesmen on how to use the weapons.

Diplomatic sources reported earlier today that Russia had stepped up its arms shipments to the Middle East, notably Syria, and other "seedbeds of subversion" to create trouble for the West in this part of the world.

Nagasaki Observes Atom Bombing

NAGASAKI, Japan (UP)— The people of Nagasaki observed the 12th anniversary of the Nagasaki atom bomb today with a minute of silent prayer and a memorial service at the city's "peace park."

In a statement passed at the memorial rally, the gathering proclaimed, "We people of Nagasaki renew our resolve to carry on the sacred task of establishing world order and realizing permanent peace based on harmony and faith on this 12th anniversary of the atom bomb.

"We pledge firmly to advance with patience and courage until this high aim is realized."

Haury Construction Co., of Monessen, was general contractor.

Billick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Billick, of 916 Leeds Ave., Monessen, has been associated with the funeral business about 10 years. After graduating from the Pittsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science, he served his apprenticeship at the R. R. Schwerha Funeral Home in Donora.

A graduate of Monessen High School in 1947, Billick also attended Douglas Business College and is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Identification School.

He served with the armed forces in Korea as a non-commissioned officer with a graves registration unit.

He is married to the former Nancy Haury, of Monessen.

State Body Considers Allocations

HARRISBURG (UP)—The priority committee of the General State Authority has recommended $50,600,000 in allocations for approval when the agency's full body meets later this month.

The recommendations cover the 50 million dollars in increased borrowing power passed by the Legislature following an 11th hour compromise by House and Senate Republicans. The Senate GOP members originally pushed for a 100 million dollar increase while House Republicans favored a 40 million dollar boost.

The committee recommended allocation of $23,500,000 for completion of projects already under way and $27,100,000 for other projects. The latter money was earmarked as follows:

Office building for state Property and Supplies Department, $5,200,000; Philadelphia Mall, demolition and acquisition of two blocks $2,500,000; construction of a library at University of Pennsylvania, a science building at Temple University and a classroom building at the University of Pittsburgh, four million dollars each.

Special Education

Special education of teachers for mentally retarded children was named for $1,300,000. Cited for one million dollars each were, purchase of land for state teachers colleges, a 50-bed addition at Connellsville State Hospital; completion of underground parking and regrading of North St. and Commonwealth Ave., Harrisburg; development of Point Park, Pittsburgh.

A $500,000 allocation was recommended for construction of a 35-bed addition to Shamokin State Hospital with operating room; $350,000 for a memorial museum and archives building and repairs to the farm show facilities, both at Harrisburg.

The Uninvited

ELKHART, Ind. (UP) — Don Heineman was awakened Thursday by an early morning intruder —a 200-pound tire which spun off a truck, knocked down his fence and caved in his front door.

Baseball Players Guests at Meeting Of Lions Club

The Monessen Lions Club met last night for a dinner session at City Park. Guests were members of the Lions Little League and Lions PONY League baseball teams. The Rev. Theodore Benkovic, a guest, offered the invocation.

President Daniel Salotti announced that the next meeting will be in the form of a stag picnic at the Croatian picnic grounds.

On Sept. 5 the club will honor Ross Aeillo, of Monessen, who was recently elected deputy district governor of Lions District 14 E.

Secretary George Stofka reported on a recent executive board meeting.

Observing birthdays were Vincent Zimmaro, William Dragan, John Lancas, James Cherocci, Michael Hulick, Rudy Sowko, Thomas Kotch, Henry Dragan, Daniel Salotti, Bud Roman, Arthur Kress, Michael Skirpan, Sr., John Check, Harry Chodes, John Eley, Andrew Mussano, William Pushkar, James Tucci and David Weiss.

Song leader for the evening was Julio Gelli.

Troopers to Check Migrant Workers

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania state police have been instructed to double check motor vehicles carrying migratory workers as a result of a series of accidents involving harvest hands.

State Police Commissioner Col. E. J. Henry has ordered police patrols to "pay particular attention" to such vehicles to ascertain they are in safe condition.

Recent motor vehicle accidents saw 21 migrant workers killed in North Carolina and another serious accident in Colorado. Several weeks ago 14 migrants were injured when a truck upset on a steep embankment at Sunbury.

Hope to Trim Federal Govt.

Governors Tackle Problem

By TOM NELSON

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP) — State and federal officials today sought an "action" program to cut the size of the huge federal government.

A joint 17 - man committee of governors and high - ranking representatives of President Eisenhower opened a two-day meeting to launch a study of whether some federal functions can be turned over to the states.

A key question was where the states would get the money to pay for any federal functions they might assume.

Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire, chairman of the 10 - man governors' delegation, said enough research has been done by the Hoover Commission and others to lay the groundwork for some action.

Expects Some Success

"I don't think anybody is optimistic that we're going to set the world on fire," Dwinell told a reporter. "But the mere fact that this project is being undertaken makes me confident we can achieve some success."

Dwinell said he found "general agreement" among the nation's 48 governors that it was "desirable" for some federal programs to be shifted to the states.

"There are many fields which the states can operate more efficiently—if they have the revenue sources which have been preempted by the federal government," he said.

Dwinell conceded it was difficult "to turn back the clock and reverse yourself." But he said if the joint committee succeeded only in being a "deterrent influence on going farther in respect to federal aid" it would be a success.

Ike Sets Stage

President Eisenhower set the stage for today's meeting at a Pennsylvania resort hotel in a speech to the annual governors' conference at Williamsburg, Va., June 24.

Eisenhower proposed the creation of a joint state-federal committee to determine whether the states can take over some federal aid programs and whether the federal government can relinquish some revenue sources to the states.

The governors' conference appointed 10 governors to work with seven Eisenhower appointees. The governors were scheduled to meet separately today and join the federal appointees headed by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson later today.

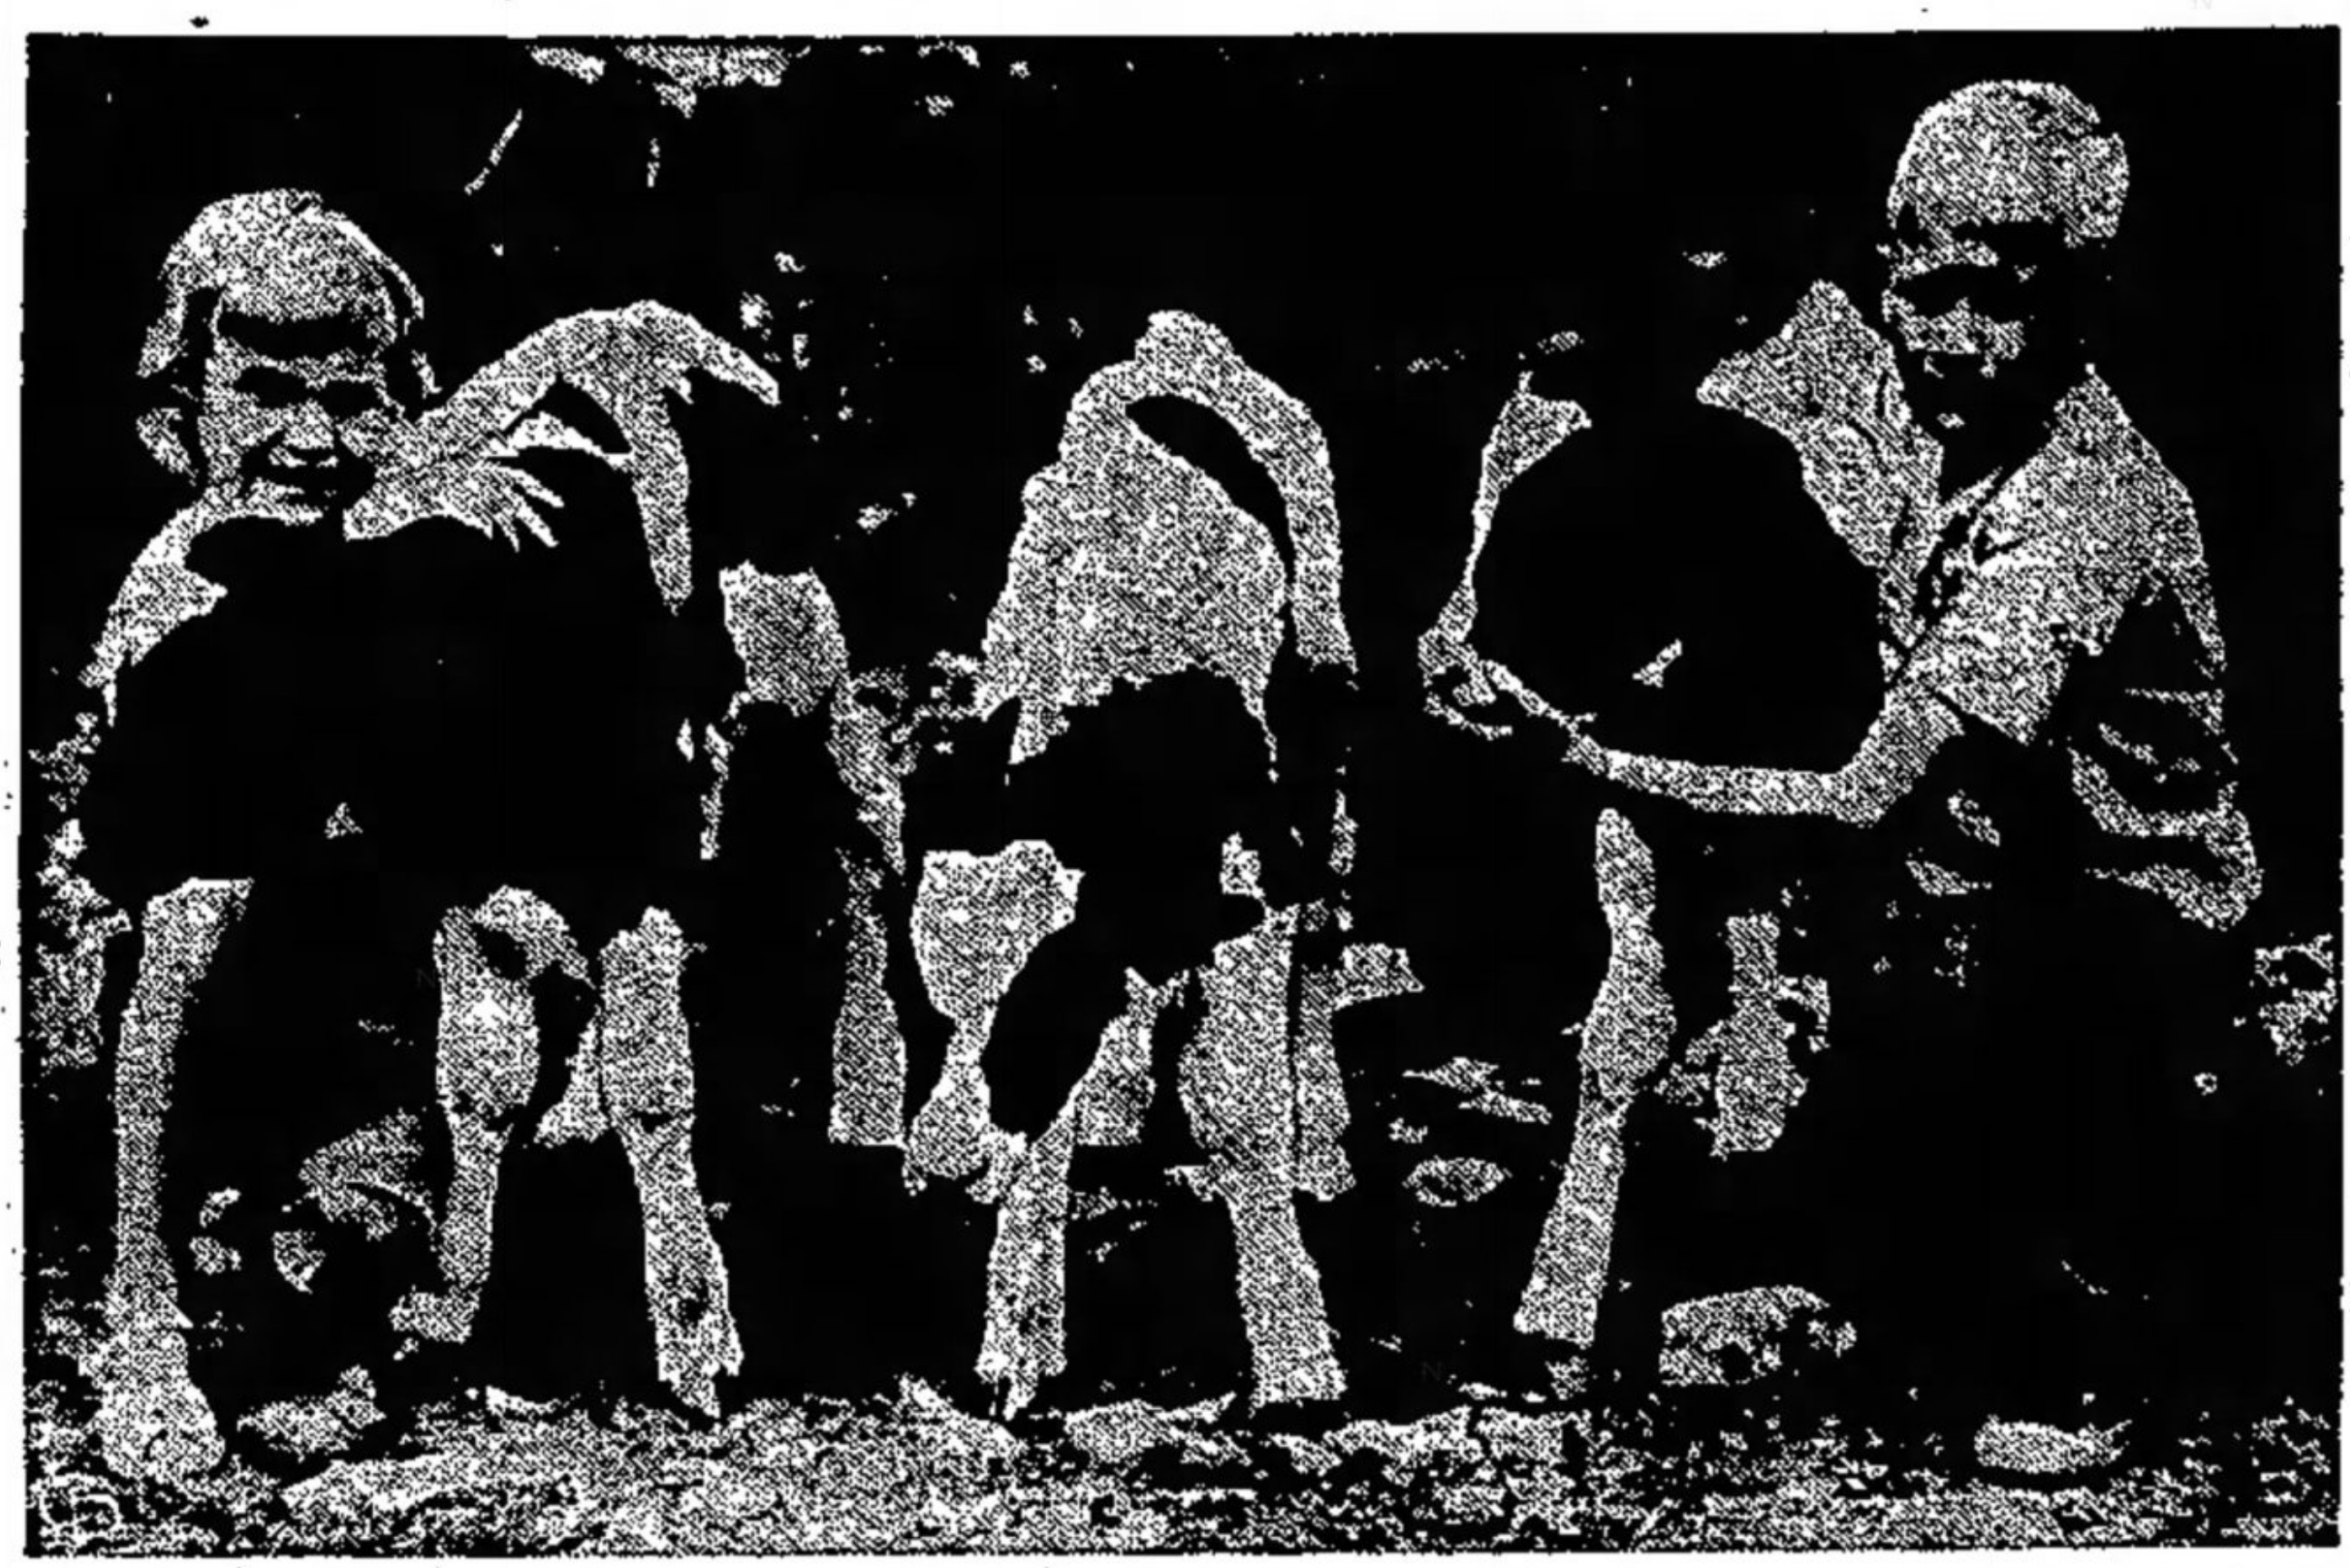
Dwinell said the two - day session here would decide on the agenda for further sessions by the joint committee.

Brownstown Church To Hear Missionary

Carol VanBremen, soon to sail for French West Africa as a new missionary of The Christian & Missionary Alliance Church, will be speaking at both the morning and evening services in the Alliance Church in Brownstown, Fayette City, Sunday. The morning service is at 10:35 and the evening service at 7:45.

Miss VanBremen is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and of the Nyack Missionary College, Nyack, N. Y. For four years she did missionary work for the Alliance in the Kentucky Mountains.

A special offering will be taken and presented to Miss VanBremen.



TRIPLET CALVES DRAWING THE TOURISTS — These triplet bull calves on the Howell farm near Honesdale, Pa., are making the place something of a tourist attraction. They weighed between 40 and 50 pounds when born Aug. 3 to a seven-year-old Holstein cow. Now the cow has had seven calves for her seven years. The Howell children are Darlene, seven, and Charles, eight. Howell has been farming the 65-year-old homestead 36 years.

Places First in Contract Bridge

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A team captained by John R. Crawford, Philadelphia, has won the national contract bridge team championship.

The Crawford team, down by 630 points at halftime, came through in the second 28 boards to defeat a team captained by Sol Rubinow, New York, by 720 points in their final match Thursday.

The Crawford team will go to Europe next January to play for the world title against the team that wins the European championship in Vienna later this month.

Other members of the team are Sidney Silodor, Philadelphia; George Rapee and B. Jay Becker, both of New York; Alvin Roth, Washington, and Tobias Stone, New York.

Crawford, Silodor, Rapee and Becker have won several national and world championships in recent years. Roth and Stone are new members of the team.

The Master Team Championship gave Crawford a grand slam in national team titles. He now holds all five titles it is possible for a player to hold. Last December he won the Open Teams and the Men's Teams, in February he won the Knockout Championship for the Harold S. Vanderbilt Cup and last week he won the Mixed Team Championship.

Plan Hay Show At County Fair

A hay show will be held at the Westmoreland County Fair, it was announced today by Joseph S. Thurston, county agent. It is being held as a forerunner to the district hay show scheduled for October.

Prize money and ribbons will be awarded at the county show. There will be three classes of competition: alfalfa, alfalfa grass mixed and clover.

The exhibitor should select hay from the middle section of a bale and it should not be more than five inches thick. Then the exhibitor is to tie this section with bale twins and deliver it to the fairgrounds near Mutual in Unity Twp. before 4 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 20.

Gideons to Meet In Mt. Pleasant

A regular meeting of the Gideons of Westmoreland County will be held tomorrow at the Penn Francis Hotel in Mt. Pleasant. Dinner will be served beginning at 6:30.

Clarence Bush, of Pricedale, is vice-president of the organization.

N. Kensington Woman Back in News Again

NEW YORK (UP)—A New Kensington woman who once forced her way into the U.S. House of Representatives has pulled another headline-catching stunt—she is a stowaway aboard the French Luxury liner Ile de France headed for Europe.

Mrs. Grace Jackson Clark, 52, stowed away aboard the ship when it sailed from New York last Tuesday. She was discovered about three hours out in one of the lounges and was placed in the ship's hospital for observation. She had no baggage, no passport, and only $147 in cash.

French Line officials said the Ile de France is due to arrive at Le Havre, France next Wednesday. They said Mrs. Clark probably will be kept aboard for the return voyage to New York, arriving there Aug. 23.

Mrs. Clark, a divorcee, said she went aboard while guests were admitted to tour the ship. When the steward called, "All ashore who's going ashore," she did not leave the ship.

"I wanted to sail on the Vueen Mary," she said. "But the Ile de France was leaving first so I took it."

Mrs. Clark's uninvited invasion of the French luxury liner followed by two and one half years her "forced" entry into the House chamber.

In January, 1955, she swept past guards, pages and congressmen to the side of Speaker Sam Rayburn "to make a little speech."

She was ushered out quickly.

Mrs. Clark later explained she was "ignorant of the way the country is run," and merely wanted congressmen and the public to consider "what good citizenship is."

The French line said Mrs. Clark would be allowed to stay in tourist class accomodations until the liner docks in Le Havre, France, where it goes from England. They said she would be given a hearing and returned on the next ship to New York.

It won't be a free ride. Officials said her family would be billed 402 for the roundtrip.

Sight Polish Subs Off British Coast

By BERT MARSH

LONDON (UP) — Two of Communist Poland's four submarines sailed today within a few miles of the British naval base at the Firth of Forth. There was wide speculation their crews were seeking political asylum in Britain.

The Admiralty refused to speculate on their destination, but it was learned that senior royal navy officers were called out of bed in the middle of the night to study the vessels' course and to stand by for a possible request to enter port.

The submarines were first spotted Thursday night within 10 to 15 miles of the Scottish coast off Aberdeenshire on a course that would put them at the entrance to the Firth of Forth, a key British naval base, this morning.

No Intentions?

At noon (7 a.m. e.d.t.) naval intelligence reported the vessels 30 miles off the Isle of May, proceeding southward at 7 to 8 knots in heavy seas. This made it appear they had no intention of entering the Firth of Forth, the logical place if they intended to land.

The Admiralty denied press reports the two vessels had sailed to Britain for asylum and a spokesman said in the same breath, "this whole thing is rapped in security."

It also was learned the Royal Air Force had been ordered to maintain a similar news blackout.

"I know all about it," the Admiralty spokesman said, but he refused to elaborate until he received instructions from higher ups.

First reports received in London said the two submarines surfaced off Scotland, identified themselves to some fishing vessels and told the fishermen they wanted asylum.

The Admiralty would say only that "we know two unidentified subs are off the Scottish coast and we don't know where they are going."

It was considered possible the two submarines may have been on a training cruise in waters off the British isles.

Six Bridge Tables In Charleroi Play

There were six tables in play last night when the Magic City Bridge Club met at the Charleroi Elks Club.

There was a tie for first place in the north-south division between Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Glick, of Pittsburgh, Dr. William E. Trezise, of Fayette City and Edwin H. Sincock, of Uniontown.

East-west winners were Mrs. Dan Dolfie and Frank Protin, of Charleroi, first; Joe Rosenberg and Bill Hugus, of Washington, second.

Equitable Aids 14 State Schools

Fourteen privately supported colleges and universities in Pennsylvania will benefit from the $125,000 in grants to be distributed by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

The gifts, aimed directly at improving faculty salaries in liberal arts colleges and universities, are made under Equitable's "Plan for the Support of Higher Education" initiated in 1955. Sums aggregating $100,000 were distributed that year and again in 1956

The following Pennsylvania schools will benefit: Allegheny College, Bryn Mawr College, Bucknell University, Dickenson College, Duquesne University, Franklin and Marshall College, Gettysburg College, Haverford College, Lafayette College, Swarthmore College, Temple University, University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh and Villanova University.

To Receive Degrees At State Tomorrow

Two district students will receive degrees from Pennsylvania State University tomorrow during Summer Sessions Commencement Exercises.

They are:

Alice J. Naumetz, 1105 Dennis Ave., Bachelor of Science in elementary education.

Ernest F. Carter, Jr., Belle Vernon R. D. 2, Bachelor of Science in horticulture.

Principle at Stake

THE CIVIL rights bill which finally passed the U. S. Senate by a vote of 72 to 18 is one of those senseless compromises which sometimes emerge from our legislative chambers when attempts are made to reduce conflicting emotions and intense ideological differences to legal language.

It is perhaps a sufficient commentary on this bill that nobody seems to know what it will do or what it won't do. Even those senators who voted for it disagree sharply as to whether it will or will not enhance the right to vote of the Negroes in the South. And the provision calling for jury trials of all criminal contempt cases, including those having nothing to do with the right to vote, promises to play hob with the long-established procedures of the whole federal judiciary, many of which have their roots in the English common law.

Of course, the basic cause of this legislative monstrosity is the irrational idea that it is possible to compromise a fundamental principle without changing the principle. If the objective of a civil rights law is to protect the right to vote, it seems impossible to write a "compromise" which doesn't, in practical effect, weaken that protection.

The southern senators have made no secret that this is their purpose. They want jury trials because they know that the Negro's right to vote won't be as secure in the hands of a southern jury as it might be in the hands of a learned judge with the law and the Constitution rather than racial prejudice as his mentors.

Because they have the power to prevent the Senate from acting on any bill which they wish to obstruct, these southerners have made good use of the notion that a compromise is better than nothing. And this has resultld in the measure that has everybody so confused.

Surely out of the impending conference between the Senate and the House will emerge a bill which will deal with the right to vote as a fundamental principle rather than as a routine political controversy over which it is desirable to make a deal.

Too Hasty Action

GOVERNOR Leader has acted with what seems to us to be undue haste in appointing David H. Weiss, of Monessen, to a vacancy on the Westmoreland County common pleas court.

Although it is more or less routine for a governor to make such appointments on the recommendation of the county chairman of his party, in this case Governor Leader apparently did not even wait for Chairman Jay W. Kromer to make his preference known. The day before the appointment was made, Mr. Kromer was telling the newspapers that he planned to call a meeting of party leaders "soon" to consider an endorsement.

It would be interesting to know just what it was that prompted the Governor to act so hastily. And in the light of his current embarrassment with some of the politically appointed members of his administration, one would have thought that he might be disposed to inquire, at least superficially, into Mr. Weiss' qualifications. Had he done so, we doubt that the appointment would have been made quite so speedily, if at all.

This is a political appointment, pure and simple. And Mr. Weiss' whole career in politics leaves no doubt that he will be a political judge.

While such judges are not unique in Pennsylvania and while Governor Leader may well say that he has followed the traditional practice in this instance, there is no reason why thoughtful people should not continue to demand something better. And since Mr. Leader is a young man who professes some political idealism, we might have expected something better from him.

The saving factor of the situation, of course, is that the voters of Westmoreland County are going to have the final say in November as to whether Mr. Weiss remains on the bench. And it is not impossible that their decision will be based on somewhat different considerations than those which motivated Governor Leader.

Get the Truth

INDICATIONS have appeared of fraud in connection with the United Steelworkers international election last February. Purported evidence to this effect has been given to the Senate select committee.

Both the committee and the USW itself, we should think, will want to get to the bottom of these allegations promptly and in such a way as to reassure both the union membership and the public.

An organization whose leadership and policies have such important bearing on the wellbeing of the nation, and one of its basic industries has to be beyond suspicion. And the only way to make that certain is to let the truth have full sway.

Merry-Go-Round—

Rep. Scott Voted for Gas Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Votes inside the House Rules Committee are super-super secret. Folks back home are not supposed to know how the members of this key committee vote, even though this committee can kill a bill or expedite a bill. For, without a "rule" from the Rules Committee, no legislation can pass.

Mr. Pearson

A very important but secret vote took place inside the Rules Committee the other day on whether to give a "rule" to the natural gas bill which will increase the cost of gas about $800,000,000 a year to the consumers. Almost every member of the Rules Committee elected from gas-consuming areas voted against the bill — except for one man.

He was Congressman Hugh Scott, Republican of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia is a tremendous consumer of gas, one of the foremost in the nation. Its representatives have fought bitterly against the gas bill. Despite this, Scott secretly voted against his own city.

Cast Key Vote

Furthermore, he cast a key vote. The vote inside the Rules Committee was five to five when it came to him. Members of the committee expected Scott to vote against the gas bill. He was once Republican national chairman, once managed Tom Dewey's campaign for President, had a tough re-election race himself. It seemed inconceivable that he would vote against the interests of his own city. But he did.

Had Scott voted the other way, against the gas bill, Chairman Howard Smith of Virginia could only have tied the vote. This would have resulted in a defeat for the gas lobby. The gas bill would not have been voted out to the floor of Congress.

No one knows exactly why Scott voted against his own constituents. Perhaps it was because he figured it would remain secret.

However, the biggest contributor to the Republican party in the entire nation was the Pew family of Sun Oil Co. The Pew family contributed $216,000 to various Republican committees, which in turn were the biggest contributors to Scott.

NOTE — Another interesting contributor to Scott's campaign was Maxwell H. Gluck, new, naive Ambassador to Ceylon, who admitted he didn't know the name of the Ceylonese Prime Minister or even the Prime Minister of India.

Neubergers and Hamburgers

"Neubergers" are not as delectable as hamburgers, but they provide food for thought. They are the name given to the wisecracks of the junior Senator from Oregon, Dick Neuberger.

Here are some of the latest "Neubergers" going around the Senate cloakroom: "Watching Dick Nixon during the civil rights debate, you'd think he was married to Booker T. Washington's sister." . . . "Having Bricker of Ohio and Jenner of Indiana come out for civil rights is like having a Bengal tiger come out for vegetarianism." . . . "If the McClellan Committee tried hard enough they could even get something on Florence Nightingale." . . . "As a result of the civil rights debate, Dmocratic candidates from the border states will run in the next election carrying two-anvils under each arm." . . . "The South won the civil rights battle all right, but it was like the Roman general Pyrrhus who was told: 'General, we have won a great victory.' 'Yes,' replied Pyrrhus, looking over the wounded and dying. 'Another such victory and we are undone.' A few more such victories," says Neuberger, "and the Democratic party is undone."

From Washington—

Politics and Civil Rights

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

President Eisenhower and the Republican leadership will, it seems to me, be making a grievous mistake if they try to kill the right-to-vote bill.

The polite theory of some of the more politically-minded Republicans is that to smother this bill to death now on the ground that it doesn't go far enough and then to return to the fight to get one that goes farther next year would be better.

Mr. Drummond

Better for whom?

Better for the Negores who aren't being allowed to vote? Or better for the Republican politicians who want to win elections with the support of Negroes already allowed to vote?

If the White House and the Republican leaders want to make possible a genuine advance in protecting the right of all citizens to vote on equal terms, they will accept the amended legislation as a good beginning.

'Smart Politics'

If the White House and the Republican leaders just want to shoot off political roman candles and make a great show of indignation that the Democrats watered down the bill, they will maneuver to suffocate it.

To some it must look like "smart politics" for the Republicans to stomp this bill to bits in conference over the House and Senate versions in order to show how much better the bill would have been if there had been more Republicans in the Senate.

But when you are dealing with the precious right of Americans to vote, "smart" politics isn't good politics, isn't good government, isn't responsible government.

This is the first right-to-vote legislation which has won a majority vote in the Senate in more than 80 years.

It was debated honestly and constructively. It was argued without filibuster and was brought to a vote without filibuster. It was amended on conviction and in light of the debate.

Of course the bill could be stronger. But what help to Negroes wanting to vote would there be in a stronger bill which wasn't passed?

What valid reason is there to believe that senators who voted for the amendment providing jury trials in cases of criminal contempt would vote against such trials next year.

Grants New Powers

This legislation gives the federal government new and untried powers to protect the right to vote. Should these new powers be thrown away on the speculation that sometime, somehow, a bill could be passed that would give the federal government still further powers?

These new powers may not be all many would like in behalf of the right to vote, but they will do a lot more than no new powers plus a speculation that a better bill might just happen to come into being in 1958.

I don't mean that the administration should not protest — and protest as hard as it wants — that the provision for jury trial in all kind of criminal contempt is unwise and should be removed.

I don't mean that the administration should not try — and try hard — to get the House-Senate conference to agree on a compromise stronger than the Senate version.

Let the fight for the strongest possible law continue.

What I am saying is that all this Republican-inspired talk about the merit of getting the bill killed in order to try again next year is just too cute, too politically scheming, to be allowed to happen.

This bill doesn't do as much political damage to the Democrats as the Republicans hoped. So what?

Bill Seen Useful

This bill does not put as much authority in the hands of the Justice Department as many Republicans and some Democrats would like. Their views in the end may prove well founded. Conceivably the bill will not work well; conceivably the powers will prove unequal to the need.

But shouldn't we find out instead of throwing up our hands in feigned political horror that everything hasn't been done at once?

Many knowledgeable people dedicated to civil rights, including leaders of some of the Negro organizations, consider this a useful, workable bill.

If it needs to be improved, experience will show it. To talk about improving it without trying it, to talk about killing it in order to start all over again — that is shoddy politics.

Further Comment on Judgeship Situation

(District newspapers continue to comment editorially on the Westmoreland judgeship situation, particularly the nomination of David H. Weiss, of Monessen, as a Democratic candidate for common pleas court. Governor Leader on Wednesday appointed Mr. Weiss to a vacancy on the court to serve the balance of this year. Following are excerpts from the latest editorials published in this area.)

Latrobe Bulletin

We're sorry that. . . our man, Paul Mahady, failed to obtain the third judgeship designation from the Democratic county committee.

We said before the Democrats got together that Mr. Mahady's selection would increase the Democrats' chances at the November election. . .

The principal thing here is that the Democratic committee chose to ignore Latrobe's moral rights to be represented on the common pleas court bench. For that the committee may pay and pay heavily in the November election. We wouldn't know.

Only time will tell to what extent Latrobe voters may either shun the election or vote the other way. Of this we feel confident, it is about time — if not long overdue — for Latrobe to be recognized for the dominant power it is becoming both politically and economically in Westmoreland County. . .

Latrobe is going to fight for recognition in all things. The people in this modern community are not going to sit back and be accorded the so-called "stepchild" treatment much longer.

Greensburg Tribune-Review

David H. Weiss, of Monessen, who was picked as the third judicial candidate of the Democratic party last Saturday, had the right formula on how to become a county judge under the Buddy Turner (chief county detective Arthur B. Turner) political machine that controls the county.

Last May at a Democratic rally in South Greensburg that turned out to be quite a quiz session, Weiss was quoted as saying "I want to be a judge someday—but I am doing the right thing waiting my turn". . .

Dave knew the answer then. Joseph M. Loughran, former assistant district attorney who resigned that post and ran unsuccessfully for judge against the Democratic organization, was being criticized by Weiss for "not waiting his turn" to be a handpicked judge. After finishing third on both tickets at the primaries in May, Loughran also lost to Weiss last Saturday at the Democratic nominating convention, as a result of the political maneuvering of Turner and others.

This further emphasizes the control the Democratic machine has on the county.

The. . . session with Weiss at the South Greensburg meeting revealed that a few men in the courthouse pick the judges, and that was all right by Dave, who was willing to wait his turn. Weiss further was quoted as saying that Loughran was qualified for a judgeship but he could not make it without the approval of the bosses.

The Woman's View—

Skip New York, See U. S., Queen Is Urged

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The word is around that Queen Elizabeth II wants to see the view from the Empire State Bldg. and circle Manhattan Island by boat on her visit here Oct. 21.

Well, Your Majesty, these are pleasant sights indeed for a tourist. But to get to know us Americans, go West, young Queen.

Gay Pauley

Skip New York. Expand your stay, bring the two kids as well as Phillip, and let's get acquainted coast to coast.

The view from Pikes Peak is more spectacular than the one from the Empire State Bldg. anyway. You ought to see Boulder Dam, the Grand Canyon, a sunset on the Golden Gate Bridge, Yosemite Park, and the red and gold of New England's forests in October.

Try to take in Niagara Falls again. You caught them the last time you were on this continent when you were a princess. But it was from the Canadian side.

Football A Must

The ticker tape parade up Broadway which they've planned for you is a great honor. But you mustn't miss a football game at South Bend, Ind. Unfortunately it'll be too late for a baseball game and hot dogs at the ball park.

To know the real us, you should visit an automat, shop in a supermarket, dig clams and attend a clambake on Cape Cod.

Sample apple pie in Washington, fish for trout in Colorado or for catfish along the Mississippi, listen to jazz on Bourbon Street in New Orleans.

Attend a picnic or a backyard barbecue. Visit Disneyland in California, and a rodeo in Cheyenne (the kids will love both).

Since you're a thoroughbred fancier, you must see the horse farms in the Kentucky bluegrass. While you're there, get someone to stage a burgoo feast for you.

Visit an automobile plant in Detroit, see "Hazel" and "Nancy," the famous steel blast furnaces at Morrisville, Pa., visit an oil well in the Southwest.

Sample pecan pie and fried chicken in any southern state, taste chili in Texas, visit the gambling tables at Las Vegas. If you don't gamble, it's still a sight to see.)

More Suggestions

Ski at Sun Valley, go antiquing in New England, and visit Independence Hall in Philadelphia to see the document which officially proclaimed our freedom from some of your predecessors several years ago.

You mustn't miss Chinatown, and Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco and the redwoods of California. Eat a steak in Chicago, pumpkin pie in any Midwestern state, see a granary in the corn and wheat belt, visit a dairy farm in Wisconsin. Don't miss the moon over Miami, or a chance to sample cold beer in St. Louis. Go on a shopping tour of any main street in America.

And to appreciate a traffic jam the likes of which you haven't seen since London at your coronation, spend a day on a Connecticut beach and then head for New York along the Merritt Parkway at around 7 p.m. on a Sunday evening.

In other words, Your Majesty, don't let your advisers limit your trip to a few days in Washington, Jamestown, Va., and New York. For already, one observer — taking a look at the brief tour they've planned—has decided, "There are more anglophobes in Devon than in Virginia."

National Affairs—

Compromise or Nothing Civil Rights Choice

By RAMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress, which is used to making all-or-nothing choices on civil rights legislation, must decide this year whether to choose compromise instead.

Some of the advocates of strong legislation are beginning to say it would be better to pass no bill than to take what they can get from the Senate this year.

Mr. Lahr

Until now civil rights bills have never been handled in a climate of compromise. Heretofore almost all members of Congress took it for granted Southern Democrats could and would kill any measure by filibuster in the Senate.

Debates For Record

The debates were mostly for the record. Supporters of the legislation showed little more interest in compromise than did the Southerners.

At one time the battle was over bills to abolish state poll taxes by federal law. Compromisers raised constitutional questions and asked why the goal should not be sought through constitutional amendment. All-out backers of the bill objected and settled for nothing. The poll tax survives in five Southern states.

Later the issue was drawn over bills to create a national Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) to discourage discrimination against Negro job holders and applicants. Compromise proposals to set up a mediation agency to deal with the problem never were taken seriously by either side. No bill was ever passed.

Took Comprimise Soundings

The compromisers sometimes aasked why it was better to settle for nothing than to decide in advance that a watered-down bill was not even worth a trial.

Even Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern bloc opposed to all civil rights bills, took compromise soundings in 1949. He was reported to have been rebuffed both by President Truman and some of his fellow Southerners.

This year the Senate has watered down the administration bill, passed by the House, until it deals largely with protection of voting rights. It also has attached a controversial jury trial amendment.

However the House reacts to these changes the eventual choice will probably be between no bill and one close to the Senate version.

Class of 1952 Plans Reunion Tomorrow Night

Marking the fifth anniversary of their graduation from Monessen High School members of the class of 1952 will meet for their first reunion at the Ankara supper club on Rt. 51.

Dinner will be served and there will be a program following. Dr. Joseph J. Pallone, superintendent of the Monessen Schools, and Mrs. Pallone will be guests of honor along with Wilma E. Lander and Katherine L. King.

Berry-Smouse Nuptials Are Solemnized in West Newton

Exchanging their nuptial vows in Christ Lutheran Church of West Newton were Maryln Yvonne Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom D. Berry, of Hill and Main Sts., West Newton, and Robert Smouse. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smouse, of Madison.

The Rev. John Schneidmiller heard the exchange of vows at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday, July 31. White carnations and ferns decorated the church sanctuary.

Given By Father

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of white cotton embroidered with silk eyelet. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a square neckline and elbow length sleeves, and she wore matching mitts. French sheer illusion fashioned her fingertip veil, which was held in place by a tiara. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Mary Lou Momyer, who wore a full length gown of white net over taffeta accented with a blue bow. She wore a small blue veiled hat and carried a blue basket filled with white carnations.

Barbara Houser was the bridesmaid. Her ensemble was styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant.

Joseph Smouse, of Madison, was best man for his brother, Theodore Simon, of West Newton, was usher, and the ring bearer was Craig Wachs, nephew of the bride.

Mothers Attend

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Berry wore a navy blue dress with orchid accessories. A rose colored dress was chosen by the mother of the bridegroom. They wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception in the church dining room followed the church ceremony. White flowers and ivy decorated the room for the wedding reception.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a navy blue dress with white accessories.

The bride was graduated from West Newton High School and Duff's Business College. The bridegroom was graduated from Sewickley High School, and is employed by the B and O Railroad. They plan to reside in Struthers, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simkanich (Mary Ann Troth)

Mary Ann Troth Becomes Bride of John Simkanich

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mary Ann Troth, daughter of Mrs. Karl Troth, of 25 Aliquippa Ave., and the late Karl Troth, to John Simkanich. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simkanich, of 115 Elm St.

They exchanged nuptial vows on Sunday afternoon, July 21, at 3 o'clock in St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox Church with the Rev. John Govrusik, church pastor, officiating. The double ring ceremony was solemnized before an altar banked with ferns and pink gladiolus. The responses were sung by the church choir.

Alfred Troth, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. She wore a ballerina length gown of white imported lace over taffeta. It was styled with a scalloped neckline accented with seed pearls, a fitted bodice, bracelet length sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a juliet cap of pearls and lace with a veil of misty sheer illusion. She carried a Prayer Book topped with a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley tied with satin shower streamers.

Maid of Honor

Serving as maid of honor was Carol Jadyk, of Monessen, friend of the bride. She wore a pink ballerina length gown with a scalloped neckline. The full skirt of lace was worn over taffeta. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Matthew Krajnak, of Monessen, a friend of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The mother of the bride wore a blue silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore a yellow print dress with beige accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Reception Held

A reception for 250 relatives and friends was held at the Slovak Home. A four tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. Other appointments were in pink and white. Buffet refreshments were served.

Guests attended from Monessen, Donora, Charleroi, Glassport, McKeesport, Pleasant Hills, Pittsburgh, Perryopolis, Clairton, Jeannette, Allenport and Cleveland, Ohio.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a white linen suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Both young people were graduated from Monessen High School. Mr. Simkanich is employed at the Irvin Works, and Mrs. Simkanich is employed at the Manos Theatre. They are now residing at 25 Aliquippa Ave.

Shaw Families Will Gather At City Park

The annual reunion of the descendents of James and Sara Shaw will be held on Sunday at Monessen Park. There will be a basket picnic dinner, and a program of games and contests.

All members of the Newsham, Shaw, Leeper, Gephart, Bern, Frieberg and Salyers families and their friends are invited to attend.

Reunion Set By Anders Family

Plans are being made for the annual reunion of the Anders family, which will be held at Armbruster's Grove. It has been set for Sunday, Aug. 25.

Family members and guests may attend. Each is to provide a basket picnic dinner and supper. Coffee and pop will be served by a social committee in charge.

Contests and games are being planned with prizes for all the winners.

Shelby Jean Usher Weds

Shelby Jean Usher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Usher, of Fayette City, became the bride of Donald Henry Maglet, Tuesday, Aug. 6, in a ceremony performed at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Maglet is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maglet, of Webster.

The double ring ceremony took place at 11:15 a. m. with the Rev. D. Earl Daniel, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Fayette City, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a pale blue cocktail length dress of nylon net. It was styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt with fly-away panels in the back. She wore a pale blue picture hat trimmed in matching ruffles and carried a bridal arrangement of blue and white chrysanthemums.

Sister Is Attendant

Evelyn Lee Usher, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She wore an ensemble of yellow. Her dress was made of dotted swiss and was styled with a fitted waistline and flared skirt. She wore flowers in her hair and wore a corsage of red roses.

Russell Stephen Maglet, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The mother of the bride selected a pale blue sheath dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore an ensemble of blue, white accessories and a red rose corsage.

Family Reception

Immediately after the ceremony there was a reception for the families of the bride and bridegroom. A three tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. It was topped with a heart and miniature bridal couple.

Later the couple left for a few days in Maryland.

The new Mrs. Maglet will reside with her parents, while her husband is in service. He is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. with the U. S. Army.

The bride was graduated in 1957 from Bellmar High School, and her husband attended Rostraver High School.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chisholm have returned to their home in Fairless Hills after visiting with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chisholm, of 227 Manown St. They also attended the C. H. Steelers' QB Problem Seen Solved

It appears the Pittsburgh Steelers have finally eliminated their quarterback problem with two veterans, one-highly publicized rookie and a surprised rookie making up the ball-handling candidates list. First of all, Ted Marchibroda, first-stringer last season, is back. He will receive help this season from Jack Scarbath, who led Maryland to two straight unbeaten seasons but was injured last year and couldn't help the Steelers. Scarbath is now fully recovered. Next is the Purdue All-American Len Dawson, whom you'll see on the magic screen tonight in the College All-Stars vs. N. Y. Pro Giants tilt. But the real surprise has been Gene Cichowski, from Indiana U. He may be used as a halfback if he fails in the QB bid.

Van Voorhis, officially dropped from the Mon Valley League last week, will have all of its sixth round games cancelled but the fifth round tilts which were postponed due to the Vans not showing will be credited to their opponents . . . Mon Valley League Commissioner George Kuvinka is really beaming these days over the tight MVL playoff race. The top four spots will be undecided until after tonight's final regularly-scheduled games . . . Glassport High School has come up with a novel salary system for its athletic staff, three-year contracts with "climbing" rates. For instance, George Gorun, cage mentor, who had previously resigned, was rehired at $550 for 1957-58, $600 for 58-59 and $650 for 59-60.

Intestinal Disorder Floors Henry

Buck Henry, ex-Charleroi welterweight, now residing in Monessen, missed the Jeannette fight card last night due to an intestinal disorder, according to his manager, Dr. C. H. Rosenbloom of Charleroi. Buck was to have fought Ray Shaffer of Sharpsburg in a four-rounder . . . If the final financial count was favorable for last night's card, promoter Mike Yennerell will try another on August 29 with Wilf Greaves already signed under his new manager, Mrs. Jake Mintz. Greaves' foe will be selected from the following: Kid Gavilan, Joey Giardello, Gil Turner, Chico Vejar and Pedro Gonsales. Fancy company, oh, wot? The card will again be set for Jeannette's McKee Stadium.

Remember that great Cincinnati Reds team of the 1939-40 era with such players as Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer, Johnny Vandermeer and Frank McCormick? Well, McCormick is now a coach with the Redlegs and was asked to compare the 1940 nine with this season's Cincy team. His answer? He replied, "Looking at the overall picture, I believe the present day club far overshadows the 1940 team except for pitching." McCormick goes on to recall the 22 wins for Walter, 20 for Derringer, 16 for Gene Thompson, and 14 for Jim Turner. Double no-hit pitcher Johnny Vandermeer suffered arm trouble in '40 and won only three games. By the way, McCormick played 138 major league games at first base without an error from Sept. 26, 1945 until Sept. 23, 1946. That mark still stands.

DeLuca to Address BV Group Sunday

Al DeLuca, popular St. Vincent College grid mentor, will address the St. Sebastian R. C. Church Holy Name Society at a communion breakfast at Celapinos Sunday morning. The sports-minded Belle Vernon church group has had parctically all valley and district sports celebrities as speakers at their breakfasts over a two-year span . . . DeLuca will probably welcome the opportunity to tell the men how rugged his '57 grid card will be with two new opponents, St. Joseph of Indiana and Baldwin-Wallace of Beria, Ohio on the schedule. St. Joseph played in the Aluminum Bowl last season. Baldwin-Wallace is always tough. Other Bearcat foes include Indiana Teachers, Thiel, Clarion Teachers, Scranton U., Waynesburg and Kings College.

Today's Sports Parade—

Rademacher Once Beat Marciano's Kayo Time

By RAYMOND JOHNSON

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — If one believes everything he reads, legal murder will be committed in Seattle when Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight king, fights Pete Rademacher, ruler of the amateurs, on Aug. 22.

Various and sundry folks have popped off against this most unusual heavyweight fight. It appears that some may have had ulterior motives for their objections. Others saw a good opportunity to get quoted across the nation. And others pounded out columns about the injustice of an amateur fighting a professional because they were ignorant of all the facts.

Kid Mathews was stopped by Rocky Marciano in two rounds in New York on July 28, 1952. This same Pete Rademacher dropped this same Kid Mathews in less than two minutes some 30 days before he crawled into the ring to face Marciano.

Happened In Seattle

You cannot verify this by looking into the record book. But you can with a telephone call to Seattle. It happened out there. George Chemeres, Pete's trainer, was Mathewr' instructor at the time. Jack Hurley who is promoting the Rademacher - Patterson fight, was Mathews' manager.

Hurley ran short of sparring partners for Mathews one day and Rademacher, who had been training under Chemeres for three summers, volunteered to work with Mathews. They wore 16-ounce gloves.

"I gave Pete only a simple piece of strategy and sent him into the ring," Chemeres told me in revealing that Rademacher had floored Mathews. "Pete feinted with his right, stepped-back, then spattered Mathews' nose. A moment later he floored Mathews. Hurley hollered like a wounded bull and stopped it after two minutes.

"Don't worry about Pete not being able to take care of himself. You don't find many athletes with better bodies than he has and I know he's in condition."

Streamlined Body

Rademacher's father was a German and his mother a Finn, which probably accounts for his height and his well-proportioned body. He looks a lot like a welter from his hips down.

If this fight isn't a bette match than the Jackson-Patterso or Bob Baker - Eddie Machen affair of two weeks ago, everyone who has visited the Rademacher camp is going to be badly fooled

Rademacher went to the 1955 Golden Gloves meet in Chicago with me as an honorary coach. He said then he thought he could beat anybody up there and go to the Olympics, which he did.

He first told me on Feb. 27 he was going to fight Patterson. I thought he was kidding but wrote a couple of paragraphs on it any way. Now I am convinced he has a chance.

No-Hitters, 36 Runs in CSL Tilts

High-scoring games and a no-hitter featured the City Softball League action yesterday with the Ravens clubbing Italian Hall, 24-1, to move into fifth place while the league-leading Cro-Am entry was blanking Myfords, 12-0.

A 17-run second inning in which the Italian Hall team commited three errors spelled the difference in the first game of the twin bill. Joe Galla of the winners had five for five including a grand slam homer. for the "big gun" honors while Derrico checked in with four for five including a double.

Gne Quinn and Rail Sekoski had two hits each for the losers out of the 10 the Hallers garnered The winners collected 18 safe blows.

'No-Hit' Telegraphis

The second game of yesterday's bargain bill found Steve Telegraphis allowing the Myfords neary a hit in a fast game completed in an hour and 5 minutes.

Steve, who is slated to leave for military service, also featured in the 17-hit attack on Myford hurling as he collected three singles in four trips.

Ernie Lattanzio doubled twice for the winners with D. Saflin connecting on three safe blows including a triple. Art Stancato homered for the Cro-Ams and collected a single.

Tonight its PNA against MPSA in the first game and Myfords against the Ravens in the second tilt.

A league meeting last night found all teams represented except the Cro-Ams for which a fine was assessed Important matters were discussed.

Smallmouth Bass Situation Seen As 'Not Serious'

HARRISBURG (UP)—An official of the state Fish Commission said today reports that Pennsylvania's smallmouth bass population is threatened with possible extinction are "greatly exaggerated."

Dr. A. S. Hazzard, assistant commission executive director, conceded the state agency was combatting a parasitic tapeworm which eventually destroys the bass' ability to reproduce.

"The situation is certainly undesirable, but not serious," Hazzard said.

Hazzard said the tapeworm was harmless to humans because it was confined to the bass' intestines which are removed before eating. However, the worm sterilizes the fish when they are five to six years old.

He pointed out the fish were not in danger of extinction because young bass normally mature about three and begin spawning before the worm has destroyed the reproductive process. The tapeworm is prevalent only in landlocked waters, not being able to survive in running waters.

The worm is carried by water fleas which are a favorite food of young bass. Originally, the parasite was introduced about 30 years ago when fish stocking was a relatively new operation and infected bass entered northeastern Pennsylvania lakes. The worms were spread from the infected fish to the water flea and the life cycle was set in motion.

Actually the battle against the parasite began about 10 years ago but has intensified in recent years as better methods have been developed for its elimination and fish stocking.

Ozarks Drop 2-1 Tilt; Very Slight Playoff Chance Now Remains

Locals Need Victory Tonght Coupled With Defeats for Donora, New Eagle

It was practically all over for the Monessen Ozarks in the 1957 season today following a 2-1 loss to New Eagle at New Eagle last night.

The Ozarks would have to defeat first-place Fayette City tonight while New Eagle was losing to last-place West Newton and Charleroi was besting Donora in order to stay in the running as the locals dropped a full game behind the pace with a 20-20 mark. New Eagle and Donora show 21-19 records.

Last night it was a case of Vic Furiga having just a little more than Bill Mitnick in a very well-played game.

Neither team scored until the fourth when Fred Cox, erst-while Monongahela High star, clubbed a homer deep into left center for a 1-0 lead.

Tied in Fifth Inning

The Ozarks tied it in the top of the fifth when Frank Valla hit to right field and Jess Leach erred trying to field the ball. Despite the fact it was only a single Valla was able to come all the way home.

Leach quickly made up for the miscue, when, in the bottom of the fifth he doubled to plate Gerlack, who had singled, with the winning run. There was no further scoring.

Furiga allowed the Ozarks hits in only the first, fourth and fifth innings while New Eagle hit in every inning but the first. It was the first game in quite a while in which the Ozarks had failed to club an extra base hit.

Interested spectators at the game were the Donora players, now in the thick of the playoff race.

Tonight's three-games close out the 1957 regular league schedule. Playoffs will start Monday with plans announced tomorrow after the outcome of tonight's games is known.

K of C Corn Roast Sports Events Winners Listed

Sports events featured the Belle Vernon Knights of Columbus corn roast for members, their families and members of the K of C Midget baseball team and their families at Croatian Park, Pricedale last night.

Winners in the racing events included Ronnie Antal who copped top honors in the "Under 7-years" race. Jimmy Carrick was across the finish line first in the 7-10 year age race while Joseph Walko took first in the 11-15 age bracket.

Bernadette Sabo came through in the "Under 7" race for girls while Bonnie Luce was the 7-10 "first-placer."

In a "tug of war" between groups of wives of the members, the team comprised of Sophie Sabolek, Wanda Stanley, Blanche Sabo, Michaila Yelanich, Betty Stickel, Virginia Halgas, Matilda Galiotto, Irene Mendicino and Margaret Fabian pulled its way to the winners circle.

The men's tug of war was won by the team of Rudy Halgas, John Blatnick, Steve Antal, Jim Kehr, Mike Kobaly, Joseph Sabolek, Raymond Yakubic, James Mendicino, Raymond Dalfonso and Bill O'Hara.

Members of the winning boys' tug of war team were Joe Walko, Denny Steiner, Mickey Semancik, James Sabolek, Bobby Nelson, Raymond Tisot, George Galiotto and Tom Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferrari claimed the egg throwing title, outlasting all other contestants.

Bill O'Hara led group singing to end the evening's festivities.

Mike Semancik, Rudy Halgas and Ken Stickel were in charge of the "roast", one of the top affairs ever held by the Belle Vernon group.

Steelers Double 'Get-ready' Efforts

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers doubled efforts today to ready themselves for a preseason game in Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 17.

Thursday, the team held its first full scrimmage at St. Bonaventure University. The entire squad, with the exception of three players in the college all-star camp, was on hand.

The Steelers were the last National Football League team to enter training camp.

CIOers Drop 6-4 Tilt; TCSL Playoffs Sat.

A Monessen CIO rally fell short as the local Tri-County Softball entry continued in its slump and dropped a 6-4 decision to league-leading Monongahela but not before the locals gave the leaders a scare.

The same two teams meet Monday at Monongahela in the opening of the league playoffs.

Art Doty hurled for Monongahela last night in the first four innings then retired to the field but had to come back to stop the CIOers in the final frame. Petrosky hurled well for the locals but received little support.

Both pitchers homered for their respective teams.

Vocational Midgets To Register Monday

Registration for all candidates for the Vocational team of the local Football League was announced today for Monday, August 12 by Coach Bucky Lutes. All boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years living in the Hilltop Firehouse and Park Plan areas are urged to register, Coach Bucky Lutes has announced.

Changes are necessary for the Vocational team practice site as the Vocational School area has been blacktopped. The Vocationals are defending champs in the local league. Earl Crusan, Pappy Johnson and Mel Clickovich will again assist Lutes.

Eddie Kikla Wins Legion Playoff

Monongahela's Eddie Kikla won a terrific pitchers' duel last night as his mates forged ahead in the Junior Legion playoffs, beating Washington, 2 to 0 at Washington.

Only three hits were made in the entire game — one off Kikla and two off Washington's Jack Hughes who hurled six innings.

The second game of the best-of-three series will be played at 5:45 p. m. today at Monongahela's Little League Field. The rubber match if necessary, will be played at Washington Park on Monday.

Kikla retired the first 10 batters in order, before Frank Steratore reached first on an error in the fourth inning.

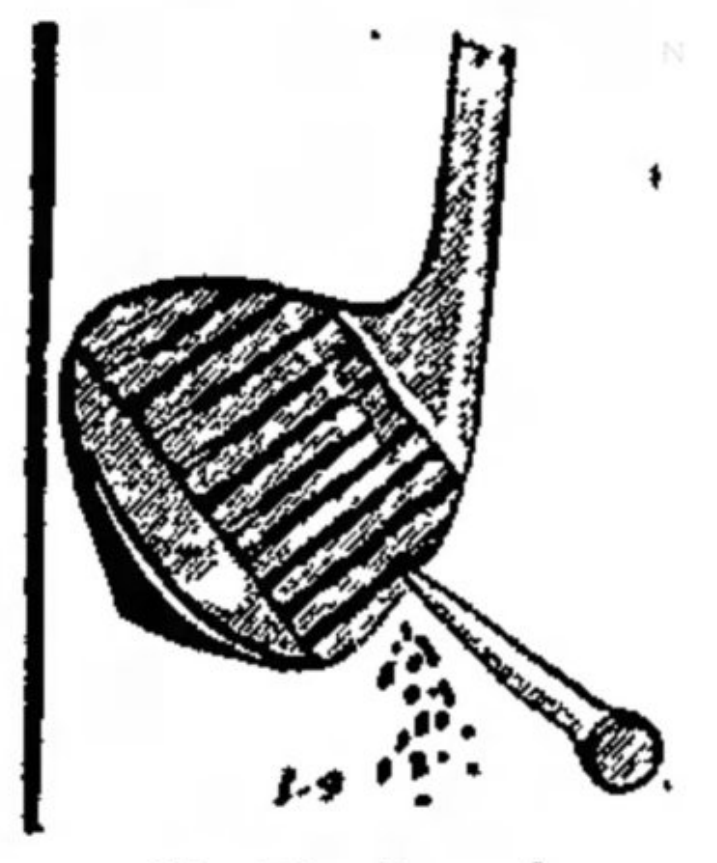
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



No Backspin

A pro quickly learns that if the shot is to act the way he hopes it will, he must keep the grooves on the faces of his irons free of grass, dirt and other foreign matter. But your average casual golfer gets careless in this respect.

Th grooves on your irons are put there for a specific and important purpose. They grip the ball as contact is made, holding the ball on the clubface long enough to give it direction and the right amount of underspin.

If you let these grooves get clogged up in the course of your round or fail to clean them out, you will never start hitting proper iron shots. The ball will start slithering off the clubface with little underspin and you'll never be able to hold the ball on line.

A wooden tee makes an excellent tool for cleaning out these grooves. It's as simple as that!

Giants Favored Over All-Stars

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO (UP) — The professional champion New York Giants were 12-point favorites to make experience pay off with victory tonight over the younger and speedier collegians in the 24th annual All-Star football game.

The match will begin at 9:30 p.m., e.d.t. in the lakefront Soldiers' Field, and will be televised nationally. The weather forecast was for a fair warm night, but it was not expected to be hot enough to hamper the older professional team.

It will be the Giants' second appearance in the annual season opener to the football season and in their last show, in 1939, they took a 9-0 win. However, it will be the first time the Giants' coach, Jim Lee Howell, has directed a team in the game.

Heavy In Experience

The All-Stars will have the benefit of professional coaching, since the head coach, Curly Lambeau, previously tutored the Green Bay Packers, Chicago Cardinals and Washington Redskins, in the National League, and all of his assistants have had pro experience.

Lambeau will be shooting for his fourth All-Star win. As the Green Bay coach, he won two and lost one, while in coaching the All-Stars for the past two seasons, he won one, 30-27 over Cleveland two years ago, and lost one, 26-0 to Cleveland last year.

The collegians were expected to try their passing attack as soon as possible on the theory that a wide open game will give their speed a chance to break the game wide open. Lambeau named Stanford's John Brodie as his probable starting quarterback.

Along with Brodie, he put Clarence Peaks of Michigan State and Jon Arnett of Southern California in the backfield, and Ron Kramer of Michigan and Lamar Lundy of Purdue at the ends.

Should this combination start and stand out on offense, Lambeau might stay with them. But he'll probably get Paul Hornung of Notre Dame in at quarterback some time during the game, and Jim Brown of Syracuse, Don Bosseler of Miami, Abe Woodson of Illinois, Page Cothren of Mississippi, and Tom McDonald of Oklahoma likewise should get into action.

Only One Injured

Lambeau has 47 able-bodied players on his squad with one man, Mike Hudock of Miami, sidelined by injury, and he said he planned to get all of them in the game, if possible. Thus, he might use two complete offensive teams and two complete defensive units, if the game opens up enough for him to give his better players a rest.

Lambeau, while not overly confident of victory, said that this team was the equal of his victorious 1955 group and that "it could win the game."

He has kept his defensive-offensive assignments secret throughout the practice sessions and hence he might change his tentative starting lineup in several positions when the game begins.

The Giants boast a squad of 46, headed by the same backfield unit which carried them to the national title last year, quarterbacks Don Heinrich and Charlie Conerly, halfbacks Frank Gifford and Alex Webster, and fullback Mel Triplett. Howell picked Heinrich to start the game, but Conerly was expected to see action before the half.

Sammy Snead Leads $50,000 Tam O'Shanter

By IRA LURVEY

CHICAGO (UP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, who in 23 years has parlayed golf stick and a ball into some $300,000, today had his eye on $50,000 more, the jackpot of Tam O'Shanter's gold-lined World Open.

Snead, 45, balding and on the pro circuit since 1934, showed the youngsters how to do it Thursday when he blistered through the World's first round with a 7-under-par 65.

Snead, who is usually his own worst enemy on the greens, needed only 32 putts to get around sprawling team. He sank a 12-footer for a birdie three on the first and a 13-footer for a birdie four on the second.

Equals Front Nine

Right behind Snead going into today's second round in the four-day, 72-hole, $101,200 tourney, was Jerry Barber of Los Angeles. Barber equalled Snead's 32 for the front nine, but lapsed a bit coming in and settled for a 66.

Top spot among the women pros was held by Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan., who marked her first day as new president of the LPGA by turning in a 5-under-ladies-par 71.

Heading the men amateurs was Bobby Ross Jr., of Springfield, Ohio. Ross with a 71, had a slim one-stroke margin over defending World amateur champ Ward Wettlaufer of Williamsville, N.Y., and Don Cherry, winner of the amateur section of last week's Tam All American.

Clifford Ann Creed, 18, who won the women's amateur part of the All American, turned in an 81, giving her a two-stroke margin over Lois Drafke of LaGrange, Ill., who was runner-up to Miss Creed, of Opelousas, La., in the All American.

Butler-Rome Meet In Prep Semi-final; Hillers Win, 3-0

MUNHALL, Pa. (UP)—Butler, Pa., meets Rome, Ga., today and the winner plays Charleston, W. Va., tonight in the windup of the semifinals of the Prep League World Series.

South Hills a 3-0 victory over defeated team in the double elimination tourney gets a free ride to the finals scheduled for Saturday.

In Thursday's play, Biff Geiss allowed but one scratch hit to give South Hills a -0 victory over Charleston, Butler squeaked past Massillon, Ohio.

Geiss had a no-hitter going into the last of the seventh when Roy Akers bounced a ball to the shortstop who threw wild to first, enabling Akers to take second. An official scorer's verdict gave Akers a hit and charged the shortstop with a throwing error.

In the Butler game, pitcher Bill Saul, who gave up but three hits, figured in all the scoring against Massillon.

With three men on and Butler trailing 3-0 in the top of the sixth, Saul hit a single to score a run. The fielder, however, booted the ball allowing two more runs to score and permitting Saul to take third. Saul scored on a single by centerfielder Bob Thompson.

KASA Softball Meet Opens in Altoona

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP)—The Keystone Amateur Softball Assn. begins its state tournament today with the Allentown Hoovers meeting Altoona's Grand Hotel in the first game of a night double-header.

Altoona Phoenix will clash with Brownsville in the second game.

Six other teams are entered in the double elimination tourney.

Saturday's contests pit the New Lido Club, Philadelphia, against Bethlehem and the Allentown Pioneers against the Piladhelphia All-Stars.

Wightman Cup Play Opens Today At Edgewood Club

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A favored United States team, led by agile Althea Gibson, opens defense of its Wightman Cup tennis title Saturday grimly determined that a predominantly teenaged British team will not carry the coveted trophy overseas.

Miss Gibson, power-swinging Wimbledon champion regarded as "tops" in women's tennis, gets the 29th running of the International challenge cup series off to a high-pitch start at nearby Edgeworth Club in Sewickley, Pa.

Meets Britain's Best

The lithe Negro star meets Britain's best — pint-sized Shirley Bloomer—in opening singles play at 1:30 p.m., e.d.t., in a match of contrasting styles. Miss Gibson reverts to a driving power game while her opponent is an expert at baseline play.

Miss Gibson, chosen Thursday for the No. 1 singles position by U.S. team captain Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont, has defeated Miss Bloomer in their four previous meetings. But Althea has a two-year jinx to beat as well this time. In the 1955 and 1956 series, a British player defeated the two top-ranking U.S. netters.

Rounding out Saturday's opening card will be a singles match between the second-positioned players, Dorothy Head Knode of the United States and Britain's 16-year-old whiz kid, Christine Truman.

In the Knode-Truman pairing, the styles will be reversed with Mrs. Knode undoubtedly counting on her baseline skill and the rangy Miss Truman trying to overpower her.

Paired With Runner-Up

A doubles event pairs Miss Gibson with her Wimbledon runner-up, Darlene Hard, against Miss Bloomer and Sheila Armstrong.

Three singles and one doubles match will complete play on Sunday with one point given for each match victory and four points needed to claim the cup.

After positions and pairings were announced Thursday, non-playing British team captain Mrs. Mary Halford said, "Miss Bloomer is our best. The others are close. I positioned them in the way I felt they've adjusted themselves to the courts here."

Probers Now Eye Boxing, Racing

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee said today he may shortly order a full-scale investigation of professional boxing and horse racing.

Celler made the disclosure to a reporter as he discussed his just-completed investigation of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

"I think we will have to go into boxing and trotting races and thoroughbred racing," Celler said.

He said the investigation would not begin until "probably this fall." He said he expects his special sports investigating subcommittee to have legislation ready for the new session of Congress in January to set limits on anti-trust control of organized professional sports.

He indicated that the subcommittee probably would propose one bill for team sports such as baseball and football, and another for boxing and horse racing. He said drafting such legislation would be a complicated job because the present sports arrangements are so diverse — "a real mish-mush."

Suddenly-Awakened Chicago May Have Saved Sheffing's Job

By MILTON RICHMAN

Even if they don't do much the rest of the season, the suddenly-awakened Chicago Cubs appear to have saved Manager Bob Scheffing's job for 1958.

Things didn't look too bright for Scheffing a few weeks ago, what with the Cubs flopping in and out of the cellar, but today they own a six-game winning streak — their longest in two years—and bossman Bob no longer seems in danger.

The Cubs swept a three-game series from the Cardinals by beating them, 4-3, Thursday night behind the combined eight-hit pitching of Moe Drabowsky and Dave Hillman.

Begins To Unravel

Chicago scored the two deciding runs off Wilmer Mizell in the top of the seventh with Drabowsky driving in one of the runs and Bobby Adams the other. Del Ennis homered for the Cardinals.

The once-tight National League pennant race began to unravel a bit as a result of the Cubs' victory over the second-place Cards. Milwaukee increased its league lead to 2½ games with a 5-3 triumph over Cincinnati and the Giants dropped Brooklyn five games back by walloping the Dodgers, 12-3. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh, 6-3.

In the American League, the White Sox shaved the distance between themselves and the first-place Yankees to five games with 7-4 decision over Kansas City as Washington beat the Yanks, 6-1, Baltimore defeated Boston, 3-1, and Cleveland topped Detroit, 3-1.

Jinx For Redlegs

Red Schoendienst's two-run single in the eighth inning gave the Braves their 11th victory over the Redlegs in 13 meetings this season. Schoendienst came through with his game-winning smash off Raul Sanchez after Cincinnati tied the score at 3-3 in the top half of the frame.

The Giants jumped on Sal Maglie for four runs in the first inning and rapped his successor, Don Bessent, for five more in the second as Ruben Gomez scattered seven hits for his 12th triumph.

Southpaw Curt Simmons of the Phils was breezing along with a 6-0 lead in the ninth when the Pirates knocked him out with a three-run rally that featured Bob Skinner's two-run homer. Bob Miller came in, stopped the threat and saved Simmons' 11th victory.

Veteran Earl Torgeson was the big man in the White Sox' victory over the A's as he drove in five runs with a pair of home runs and a double.

Senators End Famine

Washington's victory marked the first time in three seasons that the Senators won a series at Yankee Stadium. Russ Kemmerer held the Yanks to seven hits and delivered a two-run double in the third inning.

A fine piece of relief pitching by Ken Lehman stifled an eighth-inning threat by the Red Sox and enabled the Orioles to take over fifth place. The Orioles scored two runs in the third inning off ex-teammate Mike Fornieles on a walk, a sacrifice, Bill Gardner's single and Tito Francona's triple.

Vic Wertz drove in two of Cleveland's three runs with his 19th homer and a sacrifice fly to help Ray Narleski notch his ninth victory against a single setback. Detroit's only run came as a result of Reno Bertoia's fifth-inning homer.

Hart-Akins Battle On TV Tonight

CLEVELAND (UP) — Upstart Garnett (Sugar) Hart has "both hands primed" to detour the bombshell punches of veteran Virgil Akins when their scheduled 10-round television welterweight battle gets underway at Public Hall tonight.

Hart, a 20-year-old Philadelphia slugger who is bidding for a secure spot in the top 10 with a record of 22 wins in 24 bouts, will face the crossroads of his short but brilliant career against the powerful Akins.

"I can do just as well with either hand," Akins warned his 29-year-old St. Louis opponent. Not even the odds-makers argued that point, making Hart an 8-5 favorite on his argument that 19 knockouts in 24 fights is bigtime calibre.

Akins' 10 years of boxing with more seasoned opponents tells a different story. His record of 23 kayoes in 42 bouts has won him the division's No. 3 position and the title of "bombshell" puncher.

Phils Hold off Pirate Rally to Top Bucs, 6-3

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Philadelphia Phillies built a 6-0 lead behind Curt Simmons and then choked a final inning Pittsburgh rally for a 6-3 victory over the Pirates Thursday afternoon.

The loss went to Vernon Law, the first of three Pittsburgh pitchers. It was his first to the Phils since June 30, 1954. Since then he had beaten them seven times.

Crafty Curt breezed into the final inning on a six-hitter with a 6-0 lead. But a single by Dick Groat, a homer by Bob Skinner and a double and single by Frank Thomas and Bill Mazeroski, respectively, produced three Pittsburgh tallies.

Relief pitcher Bob Miller was flagged in from the bullpen and retired the next two batters on outfield flies to preserve Simmons' win and enable the Phils to split the two-game series.

The Phils parlayed three singles, two passed balls and a pair of walks for their first three runs, then went on a 12-hit attack against Law and his successors, Nelson King and Johnny O'Brien.

Tonight, the Pirates meet Brooklyn in the first of a four-game series. Bob Friend (7-14) is slated to pitch against Mickey McDevitt (4-1).

Steelers' QB Problem Seen Solved

It appears the Pittsburgh Steelers have finally eliminated their quarterback problem with two veterans, one-highly publicized rookie and a surprised rookie making up the ball-handling candidates list. First of all, Ted Marchibroda, first-stringer last season, is back. He will receive help this season from Jack Scarbath, who led Maryland to two straight unbeaten seasons but was injured last year and couldn't help the Steelers. Scarbath is now fully recovered. Next is the Purdue All-American Len Dawson, whom you'll see on the magic screen tonight in the College All-Stars vs. N. Y. Pro Giants tilt. But the real surprise has been Gene Cichowski, from Indiana U. He may be used as a halfback if he fails in the QB bid.

Van Voorhis, officially dropped from the Mon Valley League last week, will have all of its sixth round games cancelled but the fifth round tilts which were postponed due to the Vans not showing will be credited to their opponents . . . Mon Valley League Commissioner George Kuvinka is really beaming these days over the tight MVL playoff race. The top four spots will be undecided until after tonight's final regularly-scheduled games . . . Glassport High School has come up with a novel salary system for its athletic staff, three-year contracts with "climbing" rates. For instance, George Gorun, cage mentor, who had previously resigned, was rehired at $550 for 1957-58, $600 for 58-59 and $650 for 59-60.

Intestinal Disorder Floors Henry

Buck Henry, ex-Charleroi welterweight, now residing in Monessen, missed the Jeannette fight card last night due to an intestinal disorder, according to his manager, Dr. C. H. Rosenbloom of Charleroi. Buck was to have fought Ray Shaffer of Sharpsburg in a four-rounder . . . If the final financial count was favorable for last night's card, promoter Mike Yennerell will try another on August 29 with Wilf Greaves already signed under his new manager, Mrs. Jake Mintz. Greaves' foe will be selected from the following: Kid Gavilan, Joey Giardello, Gil Turner, Chico Vejar and Pedro Gonsales. Fancy company, oh, wot? The card will again be set for Jeannette's McKee Stadium.

Remember that great Cincinnati Reds team of the 1939-40 era with such players as Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer, Johnny Vandermeer and Frank McCormick? Well, McCormick is now a coach with the Redlegs and was asked to compare the 1940 nine with this season's Cincy team. His answer? He replied, "Looking at the overall picture, I believe the present day club far overshadows the 1940 team except for pitching." McCormick goes on to recall the 22 wins for Walter, 20 for Derringer, 16 for Gene Thompson, and 14 for Jim Turner. Double no-hit pitcher Johnny Vandermeer suffered arm trouble in '40 and won only three games. By the way, McCormick played 138 major league games at first base without an error from Sept. 26, 1945 until Sept. 23, 1946. That mark still stands.

DeLuca to Address BV Group Sunday

Al DeLuca, popular St. Vincent College grid mentor, will address the St. Sebastian R. C. Church Holy Name Society at a communion breakfast at Celapinos Sunday morning. The sports-minded Belle Vernon church group has had parctically all valley and district sports celebrities as speakers at their breakfasts over a two-year span . . . DeLuca will probably welcome the opportunity to tell the men how rugged his '57 grid card will be with two new opponents, St. Joseph of Indiana and Baldwin-Wallace of Beria, Ohio on the schedule. St. Joseph played in the Aluminum Bowl last season. Baldwin-Wallace is always tough. Other Bearcat foes include Indiana Teachers, Thiel, Clarion Teachers, Scranton U., Waynesburg and Kings College.

Rademacher Once Beat Marciano's Kayo Time

By RAYMOND JOHNSON

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — If one believes everything he reads, legal murder will be committed in Seattle when Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight king, fights Pete Rademacher, ruler of the amateurs, on Aug. 22.

Various and sundry folks have popped off against this most unusual heavyweight fight. It appears that some may have had ulterior motives for their objections. Others saw a good opportunity to get quoted across the nation. And others pounded out columns about the injustice of an amateur fighting a professional because they were ignorant of all the facts.

Kid Mathews was stopped by Rocky Marciano in two rounds in New York on July 28, 1952. This same Pete Rademacher dropped this same Kid Mathews in less than two minutes some 30 days before he crawled into the ring to face Marciano.

Happened In Seattle

You cannot verify this by looking into the record book. But you can with a telephone call to Seattle. It happened out there. George Chemeres, Pete's trainer, was Mathews' instructor at the time. Jack Hurley who is promoting the Rademacher - Patterson fight, was Mathews' manager.

Hurley ran short of sparring partners for Mathews one day and Rademacher, who had been training under Chemeres for three summers, volunteered to work with Mathews. They wore 16-ounce gloves.

"I gave Pete only a simple piece of strategy and sent him into the ring," Chemeres told me in revealing that Rademacher had floored Mathews. "Pete feinted with his right, stepped back, then spattered Mathews' nose. A moment later he floored Mathews. Hurley hollered like a wounded bull and stopped it after two minutes.

"Don't worry about Pete not being able to take care of himself. You don't find many athletes with better bodies than he has and I know he's in condition."

Streamlined Body

Rademacher's father was a German and his mother a Finn, which probably accounts for his height and his well-proportioned body. He looks a lot like a welter from his hips down.

If this fight isn't a bette match than the Jackson-Patterso or Bob Baker - Eddie Machen affair of two weeks ago, everyone who has visited the Rademacher camp is going to be badly fooled.

Rademacher went to the 1955 Golden Gloves meet in Chicago with me as an honorary coach. He said then he thought he could beat anybody up there and go to the Olympics, which he did.

He first told me on Feb. 27 he was going to fight Patterson. I thought he was kidding but wrote a couple of paragraphs on it anyway. Now I am convinced he has a chance.

No-Hitters, 36 Runs in CSL Tilts

High-scoring games and a no-hitter featured the City Softball League action yesterday with the Ravens clubbing Italian Hall, 24-1, to move into fifth place while the league-leading Cro-Am entry was blanking Myfords, 12-0.

A 17-run second inning in which the Italian Hall team commited three errors spelled the difference in the first game of the twin bill. Joe Galla of the winners had five for five including a grand slam homer. for the "big gun" honors while Derrico checked in with four for five including a double.

Gne Quinn and Rail Sekoski had two hits each for the losers out of the 10 the Hallers garnered. The winners collected 18 safe blows.

'No-Hit' Telegraphis

The second game of yesterday's bargain bill found Steve Telegraphis allowing the Myfords neary a hit in a fast game completed in an hour and 5 minutes.

Steve, who is slated to leave for military service, also featured in the 17-hit attack on Myford hurling as he collected three singles in four trips.

Ernie Lattanzio doubled twice for the winners with D. Saflin connecting on three safe blows including a triple. Art Stancato homered for the Cro-Ams and collected a single.

Tonight its PNA against MPSA in the first game and Myfords against the Ravens in the second tilt.

A league meeting last night found all teams represented except the Cro-Ams for which a fine was assessed. Important matters were discussed.

Smallmouth Bass Situation Seen As 'Not Serious'

HARRISBURG (UP)—An official of the state Fish Commission said today reports that Pennsylvania's smallmouth bass population is threatened with possible extinction are "greatly exaggerated."

Dr. A. S. Hazzard, assistant commission executive director, conceded the state agency was combatting a parasitic tapeworm which eventually destroys the bass' ability to reproduce.

"The situation is certainly undesirable, but not serious," Hazzard said.

Hazzard said the tapeworm was harmless to humans because it was confined to the bass' intestines which are removed before eating However, the worm sterilizes the fish when they are five to six years old.

He pointed out the fish were not in danger of extinction because young bass normally mature about three and begin spawning before the worm has destroyed the reproductive process. The tapeworm is prevalent only in landlocked waters, not being able to survive in running waters.

The worm is carried by water fleas which are a favorite food of young bass. Originally, the parasite was introduced about 30 years ago when fish stocking was a relatively new operation and infected bass entered northeastern Pennsylvania lakes. The worms were spread from the infected fish to the water flea and the life cycle was set in motion.

Actually the battle against the parasite began about 10 years ago but has intensified in recent years as better methods have been developed for its elimination and fish stocking.

Ozarks Drop 2-1 Tilt; Very Slight Playoff Chance Now Remains

Locals Need Victory Tonght Coupled With Defeats for Donora, New Eagle

It was practically all over for the Monessen Ozarks in the 1957 season today following a 2-1 loss to New Eagle at New Eagle last night.

The Ozarks would have to defeat first-place Fayette City tonight while New Eagle was losing to last-place West Newton and Charleroi was besting Donora in order to stay in the running as the locals dropped a full game behind the pace with a 20-20 mark New Eagle and Donora show 21-19 records.

Last night it was a case of Vic Furiga having just a little more than Bill Mitnick in a very well-played game.

Neither team scored until the fourth when Fred Cox, erst-while Monongahela High star, clubbed a homer deep into left center for a 1-0 lead.

Tied in Fifth Inning

The Ozarks tied it in the top of the fifth when Frank Valla hit to right field and Jess Leach erred trying to field the ball. Despite the fact it was only a single Valla was able to come all the way home.

Leach quickly made up for the miscue, when, in the bottom of the fifth he doubled to plate Gerlack, who had singled, with the winning run. There was no further scoring.

Furiga allowed the Ozarks hits in only the first, fourth and fifth innings while New Eagle hit in every inning but the first. It was the first game in quite a while in which the Ozarks had failed to club an extra base hit.

Interested spectators at the game were the Donora players, now in the thick of the playoff race.

Tonight's three-games close out the 1957 regular league schedule. Playoffs will start Monday with plans announced tomorrow after the outcome of tonight's games is known.

K of C Corn Roast Sports Events Winners Listed

Sports events featured the Belle Vernon Knights of Columbus corn roast for members, their families and members of the K of C Midget baseball team and their families at Croatian Park, Pricedale last night.

Winners in the racing events included Ronnie Antal who copped top honors in the "Under 7-years" race. Jimmy Carrick was across the finish line first in the 7-10 year age race while Joseph Walko took first in the 11-15 age bracket.

Bernadette Sabo came through in the "Under 7" race for girls while Bonnie Luce was the 7-10 "first-placer."

In a "tug of war" between groups of wives of the members, the team comprised of Sophie Sabolek, Wanda Stanley, Blanche Sabo, Michaila Yelanich, Betty Stickel, Virginia Halgas, Matilda Galiotto, Irene Mendicino and Margaret Fabian pulled its way to the winners circle.

The men's tug of war was won by the team of Rudy Halgas, John Blatnick, Steve Antal, Jim Kehr, Mike Kobaly, Joseph Sabolek, Raymond Yakubic, James Mendicino, Raymond Dalfonso and Bill O'Hara.

Members of the winning boys' tug of war team were Joe Walko, Denny Steiner, Mickey Semancik, James Sabolek, Bobby Nelson, Raymond Tisot, George Galiotto and Tom Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferrari claimed the egg throwing title, outlasting all other contestants.

Bill O'Hara led group singing to end the evening's festivities.

Mike Semancik, Rudy Halgas and Ken Stickel were in charge of the "roast", one of the top affairs ever held by the Belle Vernon group.

Steelers Double 'Get-ready' Efforts

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers doubled efforts today to ready themselves for a pre-season game in Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 17.

Thursday, the team held its first full scrimmage at St. Bonaventure University. The entire squad, with the exception of three players in the college all-star camp, was on hand.

The Steelers were the last National Football League team to enter training camp.

Dick Ricketts Now Daddy; Misses Game

HAVANA (UP)—Dick Ricketts, Pottstown, Pa., scheduled to pitch for the Rochester Red Wings against Havana Thursday night, was called back to the mainland when his wife gave birth to a baby earlier in the day. Ricketts is a former Duquesne University basketball star.

CIOers Drop 6-4 Tilt; TCSL Playoffs Sat.

A Monessen CIO rally fell short as the local Tri-County Softball entry continued in its slump and dropped a 6-4 decision to league-leading Monongahela but not before the locals gave the leaders a scare.

The same two teams meet Monday at Monongahela in the opening of the league playoffs.

Art Doty hurled for Monongahela last night in the first four innings then retired to the field but had to come back to stop the CIOers in the final frame. Petrosky hurled well for the locals but received little support.

Both pitchers homered for their respective teams.

Vocational Midgets To Register Monday

Registration for all candidates for the Vocational team of the local Football League was announced today for Monday, August 12 by Coach Bucky Lutes. All boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years living in the Hilltop Firehouse and Park Plan areas are urged to register, Coach Bucky Lutes has announced.

Changes are necessary for the Vocational team practice site as the Vocational School area has been blacktopped. The Vocationals are defending champs in the local league. Earl Crusan, Pappy Johnson and Mel Clickovich will again assist Lutes.

Eddie Kikla Wins Legion Playoff

Monongahela's Eddie Kikla won a terrific pitchers' duel last night as his mates forged ahead in the Junior Legion playoffs, beating Washington, 2 to 0 at Washington.

Only three hits were made in the entire game — one off Kikla and two off Washington's Jack Hughes who hurled six innings.

The second game of the best-of-three series will be played at 5:45 p. m today at Monongahela's Little League Field. The rubber match if necessary, will be played at Washington Park on Monday.

Kikla retired the first 10 batters in order, before Frank Steratore reached first on an error in the fourth inning.

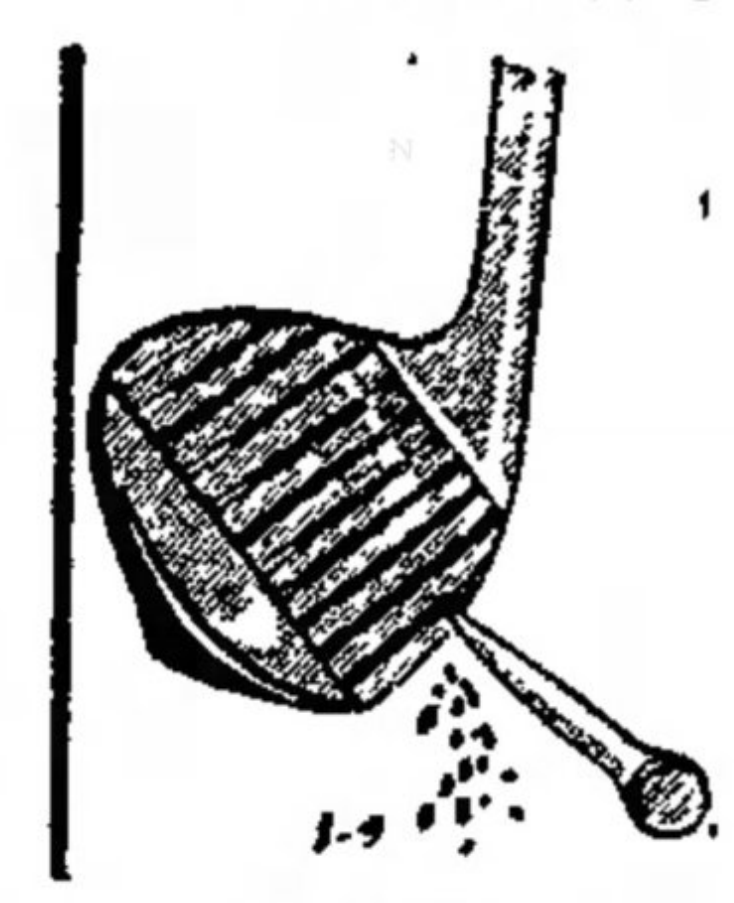
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



No Backspin

A pro quickly learns that if the shot is to act the way he hopes it will, he must keep the grooves on the faces of his irons free of grass, dirt and other foreign matter. But your average casual golfer gets careless in this respect.

Th grooves on your irons are put there for a specific and important purpose. They grip the ball as contact is made, holding the ball on the clubface long enough to give it direction and the right amount of underspin.

If you let these grooves get clogged up in the course of your round or fail to clean them out, you will never start hitting proper iron shots. The ball will start slithering off the clubface with little underspin and you'll never be able to hold the ball on line.

A wooden tee makes an excellent tool for cleaning out these grooves. It's as simple as that!

Washensky took the lead in the third round when he dropped LaQuatra with a solid left hook to the chin.

Giants Favored Over All-Stars

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO (UP) — The professional champion New York Giants were 12-point favorites to make experience pay off with victory tonight over the younger and speedier collegians in the 24th annual All-Star football game.

The match will begin at 9:30 p.m., e.d.t. in the lakefront Soldiers' Field, and will be televised nationally. The weather forecast was for a fair warm night, but it was not expected to be hot enough to hamper the older professional team.

It will be the Giants' second appearance in the annual season opener to the football season and in their last show, in 1939, they took a 9-0 win. However, it will be the first time the Giants' coach, Jim Lee Howell, has directed a team in the game.

Heavy In Experience

The All-Stars will have the benefit of professional coaching, since the head coach, Curly Lambeau, previously tutored the Green Bay Packers, Chicago Cardinals and Washington Redskins, in the National League, and all of his assistants have had pro experience.

Lambeau will be shooting for his fourth All-Star win. As the Green Bay coach, he won two and lost one, while in coaching the All-Stars for the past two seasons, he won one, 30-27 over Cleveland two years ago, and lost one, 26-0 to Cleveland last year.

The collegians were expected to try their passing attack as soon as possible on the theory that a wide open game will give their speed a chance to break the game wide open. Lambeau named Stanford's John Brodie as his probable starting quarterback.

Along with Brodie, he put Clarence Peaks of Michigan State and Jon Arnett of Southern California in the backfield, and Ron Kramer of Michigan and Lamar Lundy of Purdue at the ends.

Should this combination start and stand out on offense, Lambeau might stay with them. But he'll probably get Paul Hornung of Notre Dame in at quarterback some time during the game, and Jim Brown of Syracuse, Don Bosseler of Miami, Abe Woodson of Illinois, Page Cothren of Mississippi, and Tom McDonald of Oklahoma likewise should get into action.

Only One Injured

Lambeau has 47 able-bodied players on his squad with one man, Mike Hudock of Miami, sidelined by injury, and he said he planned to get all of them in the game, if possible. Thus, he might use two complete offensive teams and two complete defensive units, if the game opens up enough for him to give his better players a rest.

Lambeau, while not overly confident of victory, said that this team was the equal of his victorious 1955 group and that "it could win the game."

He has kept his defensive-offensive assignments secret throughout the practice sessions and hence he might change his tentative starting lineup in several positions when the game begins.

The Giants boast a squad of 46, headed by the same backfield unit which carried them to the national title last year, quarterbacks Don Heinrich and Charlie Conerly, halfbacks Frank Gifford and Alex Webster, and fullback Mel Triplett. Howell picked Heinrich to start the game, but Conerly was expected to see action before the half.

Sammy Snead Leads $50,000 Tam O'Shanter

By IRA LURVEY

CHICAGO (UP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, who in 23 years has parlayed golf stick and a ball into some $300,000, today had his eye on $50,000 more, the jackpot of Tam O'Shanter's gold-lined World Open.

Snead, 45, balding and on the pro circuit since 1934, showed the youngsters how to do it Thursday when he blistered through the World's first round with a 7-under-par 65.

Snead, who is usually his own worst enemy on the greens, needed only 32 putts to get around sprawling team. He sank a 12-footer for a birdie three on the first and a 13-footer for a birdie four on the second.

Equals Front Nine

Right behind Snead going into today's second round in the four-day, 72-hole, $101,200 tourney, was Jerry Barber of Los Angeles. Barber equalled Snead's 32 for the front nine, but lapsed a bit coming in and settled for a 66.

Top spot among the women pros was held by Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan., who marked her first day as new president of the LPGA by turning in a 5-under-ladies-par 71.

Heading the men amateurs was Bobby Ross Jr., of Springfield, Ohio. Ross with a 71, had a slim one-stroke margin over defending World amateur champ Ward Wettlaufer of Williamsville, N.Y., and Don Cherry, winner of the amateur section of last week's Tam All American.

Clifford Ann Creed, 18, who won the women's amateur part of the All American, turned in an 81, giving her a two-stroke margin over Lois Drafke of LaGrange, Ill., who was runner-up to Miss Creed, of Opelousas, La., in the All American.

Butler-Rome Meet In Prep Semi-final; Hillers Win, 3-0

MUNHALL, Pa. (UP)—Butler, Pa., meets Rome, Ga., today and the winner plays Charleston, W. Va., tonight in the windup of the semifinals of the Prep League World Series.

South Hills a 3-0 victory over defeated team in the double elimination tourney gets a free ride to the finals scheduled for Saturday.

In Thursday's play, Biff Geiss allowed but one scratch hit to give South Hills a -0 victory over Charleston, Butler squeaked past Massillon, Ohio.

Geiss had a no-hitter going into the last of the seventh when Roy Akers bounced a ball to the shortstop who threw wild to first, enabling Akers to take second. An official scorer's verdict gave Akers a hit and charged the shortstop with a throwing error.

In the Butler game, pitcher Bill Saul, who gave up but three hits, figured in all the scoring against Massillon.

With three men on and Butler trailing 3-0 in the top of the sixth, Saul hit a single to score a run. The fielder, however, booted the ball allowing two more runs to score and permitting Saul to take third. Saul scored on a single by centerfielder Bob Thompson.

Wightman Cup Play Opens Today At Edgewood Club

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A favored United States team, led by agile Althea Gibson, opens defense of its Wightman Cup tennis title Saturday grimly determined that a predominantly teenaged British team will not carry the coveted trophy overseas.

Miss Gibson, power-swinging Wimbledon champion regarded as "tops" in women's tennis, gets the 29th running of the International challenge cup series off to a high-pitch start at nearby Edgeworth Club in Sewickley, Pa.

Meets Britain's Best

The lithe Negro star meets Britain's best — pint-sized Shirley Bloomer—in opening singles play at 1:30 p.m., e.d.t., in a match of contrasting styles. Miss Gibson reverts to a driving power game while her opponent is an expert at baseline play.

Miss Gibson, chosen Thursday for the No. 1 singles position by U.S. team captain Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont, has defeated Miss Bloomer in their four previous meetings. But Althea has a two-year jinx to beat as well this time. In the 1955 and 1956 series, a British player defeated the two top-ranking U.S. netters.

Rounding out Saturday's opening card will be a singles match between the second-positioned players, Dorothy Head Knode of the United States and Britain's 16-year-old whiz kid, Christine Truman.

In the Knode-Truman pairing, the styles will be reversed with Mrs. Knode undoubtedly counting on her baseline skill and the rangy Miss Truman trying to overpower her.

Paired With Runner-Up

A doubles event pairs Miss Gibson with her Wimbledon runner-up, Darlene Hard, against Miss Bloomer and Sheila Armstrong.

Three singles and one doubles match will complete play on Sunday with one point given for each match victory and four points needed to claim the cup.

After positions and pairings were announced Thursday, non-playing British team captain Mrs Mary Halford said, "Miss Bloomer is our best. The others are close. I positioned them in the way I felt they've adjusted themselves to the courts here."

Probers Now Eye Boxing, Racing

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee said today he may shortly order a full-scale investigation of professional boxing and horse racing.

Celler made the disclosure to a reporter as he discussed his just-completed investigation of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

I think we will have to go into boxing and trotting races and thoroughbred racing," Celler said

He said the investigation would not begin until "probably this fall." He said he expects his special sports investigating subcommittee to have legislation ready for the new session of Congress in January to set limits on anti-trust control of organized professional sports.

He indicated that the subcommittee probably would propose one bill for team sports such as baseball and football, and another for boxing and horse racing. He said drafting such legislation would be a complicated job because the present sports arrangements are so diverse — "a real mish-mush.",

Suddenly-Awakened Chicago May Have Saved Sheffing's Job

By MILTON RICHMAN

Even if they don't do much the rest of the season, the suddenly-awakened Chicago Cubs appear to 'ave saved Manager Bob Scheffing's job for 1958.

Things didn't look too bright for Scheffing a few weeks ago, what with the Cubs flopping in and out of the cellar, but today they own a six-game winning streak — their longest in two years—and bossman Bob no longer seems in danger.

The Cubs swept a three-game series from the Cardinals by beating them, 4-3, Thursday night behind the combined eight-hit pitching of Moe Drabowsky and Dave Hillman.

Begins To Unravel

Chicago scored the two deciding runs off Wilmer Mizell in the top of the seventh with Drabowsky driving in one of the runs and Bobby Adams the other. Del Ennis homered for the Cardinals.

The once-tight National League pennant race began to unravel a bit as a result of the Cubs' victory over the second-place Cards Milwaukee increased its league lead to 2½ games with a 5-3 triumph over Cincinnati and the Giants dropped Brooklyn five games back by walloping the Dodgers, 12-3. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh, 6-3.

In the American League, the White Sox shaved the distance between themselves and the first-place Yankees to five games with 7-4 decision over Kansas City as Washington beat the Yanks, 6-1, Baltimore defeated Boston, 3-1, and Cleveland topped Detroit, 3-1.

Jinx For Redlegs

Red Schoendienst's two-run single in the eighth inning gave the Braves their 11th victory over the Redlegs in 13 meetings this season. Schoendienst came through with his game-winning smash off Raul Sanchez after Cincinnati tied the score at 3-3 in the top half of the frame.

The Giants jumped on Sal Maglie for four runs in the first inning and rapped his successor, Don Bessent, for five more in the second as Ruben Gomez scattered seven hits for his 12th triumph.

Southpaw Curt Simmons of the Phils was breezing along with a 6-0 lead in the ninth when the Pirates knocked him out with a three-run rally that featured Bob Skinner's two-run homer. Bob Miller came in, stopped the threat and saved Simmons' 11th victory.

Veteran Earl Torgeson was the big man in the White Sox' victory over the A's as he drove in five runs with a pair of home runs and a double

Senators End Famine

Washington's victory marked the first time in three seasons that the Senators won a series at Yankee Stadium. Russ Kemmerer held the Yanks to seven hits and delivered a two-run double in the third inning.

A fine piece of relief pitching by Ken Lehman stifled an eighth-inning threat by the Red Sox and enabled the Orioles to take over fifth place. The Orioles scored two runs in the third inning off ex-teammate Mike Fornieles on a walk, a sacrifice, Bill Gardner's single and Tito Francona's triple.

Vic Wertz drove in two of Cleveland's three runs with his 19th homer and a sacrifice fly to help Ray Narleski notch his ninth victory against a single setback. Detroit's only run came as a result of Reno Bertoia's fifth-inning homer.

Hart-Akins Battle On TV Tonight

CLEVELAND (UP) — Upstart Garnett (Sugar) Hart has "both hands primed" to detour the bombshell punches of veteran Virgil Akins when their scheduled 10-round television welterweight battle gets underway at Public Hall tonight.

Hart, a 20-year-old Philadelphia slugger who is bidding for a secure spot in the top 10 with a record of 22 wins in 24 bouts, will face the crossroads of his short but brilliant career against the powerful Akins.

"I can do just as well with either hand," Akins warned his 29-year-old St. Louis opponent. Not even the odds-makers argued that point, making Hart an 8-5 favorite on his argument that 19 knockouts in 24 fights is bigtime calibre.

Akins' 10 years of boxing with more seasoned opponents tells a different story. His record of 23 kayoes in 42 bouts has won him the division's No. 3 position and the title of "bombshell" puncher.

Phils Hold off Pirate Rally to Top Bucs, 6-3

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Philadelphia Phillies built a 6-0 lead behind Curt Simmons and then choked a final inning Pittsburgh rally for a 6-3 victory over the Pirates Thursday afternoon.

The loss went to Vernon Law, the first of three Pittsburgh pitchers. It was his first to the Phils since June 30, 1954. Since then he had beaten them seven times.

Crafty Curt breezed into the final inning on a six-hitter with a 6-0 lead. But a single by Dick Groat, a homer by Bob Skinner and a double and single by Frank Thomas and Bill Mazeroski, respectively, produced three Pittsburgh tallies.

Relief pitcher Bob Miller was flagged in from the bullpen and retired the next two batters on outfield flies to preserve Simmons' win and enable the Phils to split the two-game series.

The Phils parlayed three singles, two passed balls and a pair of walks for their first three runs, then went on a 12-hit attack against Law and his successors, Nelson King and Johnny O'Brien.

Tonight, the Pirates meet Brooklyn in the first of a four-game series. Bob Friend (7-14) is slated to pitch against Mickey McDevitt (4-1).

'Prayer Cell' Movement Is Spreading Among Protestants

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — A little-publicized "prayer cell" movement is spreading through American Protestantism. Some ministers consider it the most significant development of the current religious revival.

Prayer cells are small groups of Christian laymen who take their religion seriously. They meet privately, usually in a member's home, to pray together, read the Bible and talk over the problems which beset an ordinary man and woman in the effort to "draw near to God with faith."

Clergymen are impressed with the movement for several reasons. It is growing rapidly in all parts of the country. It is largely spontaneous in the sense that most cells are formed by laymen on their own initiative, rather than organized by churches. It cuts across denominational lines.

Many churchmen have been dubious about the sincerity of the religious revival that has swelled U.S. church rolls to a record high. But prayer cells are not easily explained by any of the superficial motives that are sometimes attributed to church membership.

Joining a prayer cell is not a good way to make social or business contacts, or "set an example for the children." Even in this day of public piety, it is not a particularly "respectable" thing to do. People who would congratulate you warmly for becoming an usher or a deacon at church are likely to lift an eyebrow at the idea of meeting in somebody's living room to pray.

The obvious conclusion is that small, informal prayer groups meet a spiritual need widely felt among today's Christian laymen.

Episcopal Bishop Austin Pardue of Pittsburgh, who has seen more than 100 prayer cells spring up in his city in the past few years, believes they attract people who "are seeking a faith that is more intimate and personal than can be found in formal Sunday services."

Other ministers regard the quiet simplicity of prayer cell worship as a valuable antidote to the busy round of activities which characterizes modern church life.

"We have all gotten so caught up in the successful running of the church that it is common for many to think that business activities are identical with religion," said the Rev. John Heuss, rector of Trinity Church, New York. "To pay mortgages, to build new parish houses, to put on a drive for new members, to hold bazaars, lunches, dinners and bake sales — all this is admirable, but it is not religion."

For most participants, prayer cells are a supplement, rather than a substitute, for regular church attendance. Many cells are formed among people who first met each other while working together on some church project. Others bring together people who live in the same neighborhood, attend the same university, or work in the same office. Some kind of common bond is important to help overcome the self-consciousness and embarrassment which most laymen feel about praying aloud or talking sincerely about their religious feelings in front of a group.

This self-consciousness wears off, members say, after the group has been meeting for a while. The experience of sharing doubts and convictions, of "bearing one another's burdens" in the most important concern of life, can make friends out of strangers rather quickly.

The result is a relationship which the church historically has prized as one of the fruits — and one of the prerequisites—of true Christian living.

The Bible calls it fellowship and Jesus made plain the great value he attached to it when he promised that wherever "two or three are gathered together in my name, there will I be also."

Army Joins in Search for Missing Engagement Ring

LANCASTER, Pa. (UP) — The Army has stepped in to help a 20-year-old Philadelphia girl find the $750 engagement ring she got from her Air Force fiance and lost—in a haystack.

A dozen or more Pennsylvania National Guardsmen, members of the 103rd Combat Engineering Battalion of Philadelphia, received permission to help Barbara Summers locate the ring, lost on a farm in Hallem, about 17 miles west of here.

Last weekend, Barbara, who is engaged to Airman 1-C David Fleming Jr., stationed at Topeka, Kan., searched through 17 tons of straw with a mine detector for 20 hours without success.

The ring, an heirloom belonging to Fleming's grandmother, was lost almost two weeks ago when Barbara gave i tto her sister to hold while visiting on the farm and it slipped off her finger into the hayloft.

Methodist Group Holds Busy Meeting This Week

A travelogue of Puerto Rico was most interestingly portrayed by the program leader of the Woman's Society for Christian Service, Mrs. Ben Holliday, at the meeting held on Thursday evening in the social rooms of the Fayette City Methodist Church.

The scripture and worship service was arranged by the secretary of Spiritual Life, Mrs. Fred Stockton who closed the program with a Prayer Circle. Mrs. Wellington Baldwin sang two vocal selections and was accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Mrs. Ray Ermlich.

During the business session, in charge of the president Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh, reports were heard from the secretaries of each department.

The vice-president, Mrs. Frank Devers stated that the programs for the new study course to begin in September were being prepared and would be sent to each member prior to the next meeting. She also stated that special days would be observed during the coming year as: United Nations Day, Week of Prayer and Self Denial, World Day of Prayer, Fellowship Day and World Wide Communion.

The report of Promotion secretary was given by Mrs. Alfred Makepeace. Reports of each committee are due by October 1 and will be made out at the September Executive Board meeting. The Missionary Education, Student and Youth, Childrens, and Publications reports were given by Mrs. Hindmarsh in the absence of the secretaries, Mrs. Roy Mossburg, Mrs. Richard Evans, Mrs. Richard Auther, and Mrs. Lily Roy.

To Send Literature

A motion was made and carried that all members of the local church serving in the armed forces or away from home for the purpose of receiving higher education, receive literature and personal notes quarterly from the society.

Mrs. Read Brightwell, co-secretary of Social Life and local church activities stated that her department was now serving as a committee for the distribution of Surplus Food in Fayette City, Lowbar, and Gillespie. They had just recently collected a truck load of materials which were sent to the Goodwill Industries, Pittsburgh.

The department also plans to organize a Unicef program for United Nations Day in which the children of the community would share their Halloween Fun by giving their collections for Trick or Treat to the children of the United Nations. Mrs. Clyde Wyatt will serve with Mrs. Brightwell on this project.

Mrs. Clarence Young, announced the committees for two Fall activities: the annual Old Fashioned Dinner to be held in September and the annual Harvest Mood Festival, in November. This year the festival will feature a Doll Clothes Booth in addition to the booths for handwork, novelties, Christmas novelties, and an auction.

The Supply Secretary, Mrs. John Stimmell reported the results of the gifts from the Christmas Party held at the July meeting and stated that they would be sent to India the first of September. She also stated that a drive for underclothing for Koreans would be the next project of the department.

The drive will be held as a community project sometime early in October. She stated that the garments need not be new but asked that they be freshly laundered before collection.

Mrs. George Roy, secretary of Status of Women, asked that the women continue to collect old nylons to provide work for the women of Japan. Each shipment of nylons must contain at least seven pounds. She also asked the women to assist in compiling a scrapbook of the activities of the women of the local church, in civic, political and spiritual life.

A social hour followed the business session. Hostesses for the affair were: Mrs. George Roy, Mrs. Fred Stockton, Mrs. John Stimmell and Mrs. Fred Weightman. Two guests were present, Mrs. Arthur Berhends, of Elmer, New Jersey and Mrs. Goldsboro of Baltimore, Md. both are guests of Mrs. James Hamer of Second St., Fayette City.

Lions Club in Annual Picnic

Fishing, boating and swimming provided amusement for the Fayette City Lions and their friends, when the club held their annual picnic at the summer cabin of Steve Vesely at Deep Creek.

Members with their wives spent the late afternoon and evening at the picnic where dinner was served at 6:30.

J. C. Class Holds Regular Meeting

The J.C. Class of the Methodist Sunday School held their regular monthly meeting at Peasant Village on Tuesday evening.

Eight members were present for the dinner meeting that began at 6:30. Only a brief business session was held.

Herman Trader, Fayette City, underwent an operation in the Allegheny General Hospital the early part of this week. His condition is said to be good.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shanks, Connellsville St., Fayette City, left by plane for Boston, Mass. where Mr. Shanks, who has been suffering a heart ailment for some time, will undergo surgery.

Russian Spies to Learn Sentences

NEW YORK (UP)— Federal Judge John M. Cashin will sentence Jack and Myra Soble and Jacob Albam today for conspiring with high Russian officials to obtain vital U.S. defense secrets for the Kremlin.

The three admitted spies face a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison or a $10,000 fine, or both. The Sobles are naturalized U.S. citizens and Albam had applied for citizenship. They were arrested here Jan. 25 as the result of a 10-year FBI investigation.

The Sobles and Albam pleaded guilty to conspiracy, the second count of a six-count indictment, in hopes of escaping trial on the first count which charged them with actual espionage. Conviction for peacetime espionage could mean death in Sing Sing's electric chair.

BACK TO SCHOOL—that's the time when mothers rejoice and children don't. One of the brighter spots in this difficult summer-to-fall adjustment is the fact that the kids will get new school and party clothes. Some of the favorite fall and winter styles are shown here. From the Helen Lee collection comes a turtle green dress of silky cotton broadcloth. Lace outlines the bibbed bodice. The young lady with the hat is wearing a "cone" shaped coat in herringbone tweed. It's a "grow coat" because there is nothing to grow out of. The girl showing off her petticoat has on an olive green and red plaid cotton with yoke and sleeves. The flower girl is demonstrating a "party" tiered petticoat made of pink sheer nylon.

This is the "grow coat."

Governor Seeks Study Of 'Local' Rights

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today urged the Federal - State Joint Action Committee to enlarge its study to include local government rights.

The governor called on the committee to conduct discussions "primarily in the broad terms of people, problems and programs, rather than in the narrow terms of resolving jurisdictional disputes between rival governmental bodies."

"If we enlarge our objectives, raise our sights, focus firmly on the most pressing needs of people, we have the chance to make these meetings memorable," Leader said.

The committee is composed of Leader and nine other governors plus federal cabinet officers and presidential aides named by the President. The nine governor's were named to the committee at the Governors' Conference earlier this summer.

Confer Today

The governors were scheduled to confer briefly as the session opened today. The federal officials were slated to arrive at noon and meet with the panel of governors later. The two-day conference is the first of several planned to meet a challenge hurled by President Eisenhower that states take on more governmental responsibilities.

Gov. Leader said the committee should hear from responsible spokesmen of city and county governments because their viewpoint "clearing is imperative to any sensible realignment of governmental functions." He added, "if we fail to heed the counsel of those who speak for local government, we inevitably will wind up doing only part of the necessary job."

Leader also urged that the committee take additional time to prepare its report rather than submitting it by Dec. 1. He said "what we want are good recommendations, not necessarily quick recommendations."

Partial List

The governor listed a partial list of the "more urgent" unsolved problems of the nation which he said the committee should study. The list included, needs of the aged, college for all high school graduates, coordinated redevelopment of cities and treatment facilities for mental illness.

Leader called on the committee to "objectively evaluate" what was being done to solve the problems, how effective it was, what further action was needed, and whether that action should be taken by the state, local or federal government, or some combination of all three.

Pricedale Church Meeting Led by Dorothy Bush

The Missionary meeting of Pricedale Union Church was held at hhe church Wednesday. Dorothy Bush was devotional leader.

Following the singing of "Stand Up for Jesus" and "Jesus, My All in All", each present recited a verse from scripture. Prayers were offered by Mary Echart, Clarence Bush, Mary Worrell, Vera Neid and Dorothy Bush. Then the gathering sang "The Victory Depends on You".

The topic leader Gwen Wood completed the missionary book, "Dr. of Tanganyika", with the topic of "Handing Over".

Business was in charge of Mrs. Bush, president. Reports were given by Mary Worrell, secretary, and Mary Echart, treasurer. A letter was read from Mrs. Dunn in England.

It was announced that a display of work done at the Daily Vacation Bible School will be shown at the Rostraver Fair.

The meeting closed with the watchword devotional leader for next month will be Goldie Perney while Doris Bush will be topic leader.

It was also announced that Joe Marasco, of Washington, Pa., will be guest speaker at the 11 a. m. Sunday services. There will be no evening services.

PTA Meeting Set

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at Pricedale Union Church is the time set for a meeting of the executive board, chairmen and committees of the Rostraver Parent-Teacher Association.

A covered dish dinner will be served at noon. Mrs. Altier, president, requests a full attendance. The coming school year will be discussed.

Pinochle Club Has Regular Session

The Town and Pinochle Club met at the home of Vivian Novakowich, of Lynnwood, Wednesday. Winners were Rose Steiner, Donna Henderson, Lucy Capacasa. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Agnes Wagner.

Also present were Alvina Maura, Helen Durchko, Marie Hayduk and Helen Revak. The next meeting will be held at the home of Agnes Wagner, of R. D., Belle Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reese and son, Douglas, of R. D., Belle Vernon, visited over the weekend with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linderman and son, Robert, have returned from a visit to Penn State University where Robert will enter next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Echart and son, Kevin, and Mrs. Hazel Hille have returned home after vacationing a week with Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Lewis, of Trenton, N. J.

David Echart, of Sweeney Plan, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. William McWreathe and son, Van, of Canonsburg. Linda Echart is still vacationing with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkins, of Finleyville.

James Steifer, of R. D., Belle Vernon, is a patient in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Cave-in Kills Realton Miner

WHITE OAK, Pa. (UP)—Albert Pizini, 39, Realton, Pa., was killed in a cave-in at the Hubbard Coal Co. mine here Wednesday night, the Allegheny County coroner's office said today. Pizini suffered a fractured skull and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Rostraver Fair Group to Meet

The Rostraver Fair Committee will meet Monday at 7:30 at Rostraver Junior High School. This will be the final meeting before the Fair is held Aug. 27-29.

The by-laws will be read at this meeting. Any corrections or additions are to be made at this session. When completed, a copy of the by-laws will be distributed at the Fair.

Tri-Hi-Y Calendar Discussed by Group

A meeting of the Rostraver Tri-Hi-Y was held Tuesday at the home of the group's advisor, Elizabeth Gess.

Lois Ahlborn, president, was in charge. The calendar for the coming year was presented and discussed. Also present were Carol Boltze, Joyce Bazilwich, Judy Warner, Frances Guzzie, Jo Ann Nelson, Barbara Sepaske, Joyce Kohley, Judy Martak, Carol Victoria and Peggy Graue.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 Card of Thanks

STEINER—We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs. Rachel Steiner. The ministrations of the Rev. Lester Crum; floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Joseph Amendola, who died 11 years ago today, August 9, 1946.

We do not forget you,
Nor do we intend,
We think of you daily
And will to the end
Gone and forgotten by
Some you may be.
But dear to our memory
Forever you'll be.

Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren.

Many Flowers for Mrs. Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Eisenhower enjoyed a growing collection of flowers and get-well cards and messages today as she continued her satisfactory recovery from Tuesday's operation.

A White House aide said the First Lady has received a considerable number of sympathetic messages wishing her a speedy recovery.

"She's a very popular First Lady," the aide commented.

Legislature to Study '12 Areas' For 1959 Action

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Joint State Government Committee, the research arm of the Legislature, has selected an initial list of 12 areas to be studied for possible action by the 1959 General Assembly.

The areas included: corporate tax impact differentials, factors affecting industrial development; school subsidies, including an evaluation of average daily membership and children of school age as measures of local need; standards and specifications for state owned and state aided buildings and equipment; continuous periodic review of general fund revenues; expenditures and commitments; codification of state and school employes' retirement statues; post high school education; Commonwealth obligations incurred by virtue of amendments to occupational disease statutes; codification of the motor vehicle and tractor codes; review and revision of inheritance tax laws and acts relating to charitable trusts; water and air pollution; and highway safety, with particular attention to compulsory insurance as a factor bearing upon highway safety.

The 12 areas were among more than 60 proposed studies requested by the 1957 Legislature. Rep. Baker Royer (R-Lancaster), commission chairman, said it was possible additional studies would be added.

New Rules May Boost FHA Mortgages Again

WASHINGTON (UP) — A government housing official predicted today that changes in FHA rules will reverse a strong trend away from financing of homes by use of FHA-insured mortgages.

The Federal Housing Administration announced Monday it will cut its down payment requirements on government insured home loans almost in half. But with the cut it raised interest rates to 5¼ per cent, plus one-half per cent compulsory insurance on the loan.

The FHA is counting on the "more realistic" interest rate to attract money-lenders back into its mortgage market and boost FHA back into an important role in the housing picture. The FHA itself does not lend money.

The federal agency, which once insured about half of all the nation's home loans, has been quietly drifting out of that picture.

Its 5 per cent interest ceiling and other rules were not attractive enough to builders and potential lenders on lower priced homes and offered little or no advantage to borrowers on middle and high priced homes.

Little Borrowed

In a recent month, only about 8 per cent of all money borrowed on home mortgages across the country was under the FHA system. The Veterans Administration, through its "GI" loans, guaranteed 20 per cent, and the remaining 72 per cent was conventional mortgages negotiated with banks and other lending institutions without government assistance or backing.

Government housing experts believe the new higher interest rates and lowered down payments will bring the public and the money lenders back to FHA. They hope the agency will be participating in about one-fourth of all home mortgage arrangements by next year.

Burns and Allen Favor Taking Their TV Easy

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— The oldest weekly series on network TV begins its eighth season this October — because a husband and wife believe in taking this entertainment business easy.

George Burns and Gracie Allen have outlived all the other regular weekly TV series. Even the high-rated Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz tired of the pace and cut down to four shows a season.

And of all the weekly entertainers on the home screens, only Arthur Godfrey (starting his ninth year) has kept his popularity longer than George and Gracie.

An investigation of this phenomenon today disclosed the famed husband-wife team of vaudeville, stage, radio, movies and CBS TV relaxing in the den of their home. Why do they think they've lasted so long?

George Does Talking

"Because I'm so darling," Mrs Burns said promptly, and twitted happily from the room as is her custom, leaving George to wave his cigar and do the talking for the family.

"We do our show easily," reflected Burns. "We don't try to get all the laughs. There's very little pressure.

"Most performers work hard and fast. When you watch their show you eat fast and get indigestion and don't watch the show again!"

Although most series rehearse for two days, Burns and Allen "block out the show" one day and shoot it — fluffs and all—the next.

"Rehearse! All we do is sit around and drink coffee," said Burns.

Burns insists "It doesn't help a series to change the locale or bring in a new star — you can bring in new subject matter."

"We added Ronnie, our son, to the show and it opened up a new subject for stories, the problems of a 21-year-old boy," Burns went on.

"We don't have guest stars and write a show around them. For example, we had parts last week for four beautiful girls — so we got the four Miss Universe runners-up.

Make Changes Gradually

"Furthermore, we don't wait until the end of a season to change anything. In the middle of a season we went to Europe on the show, for example. The changes are gradual that way.

"We treat our show casually—I look at the camera. And our sponsor is wonderful. Leaves us alone."

This fall their new competition on rival NBC will be a western series.

"They're using up all those stock shots of sheep eating grass," snorted George. "You can't look at that all season."

He puffed on his cigar and echoed Gracie.

"You know, we ARE here for many years because of Gracie," he said. "You don't ever get tired of Gracie."

'You Are There' Series to Repeat V-J Day Events

The living history television series, "You are There" will return to August 14, 1945, on Sunday to present the joyous celebrations in Washington, D. C., and other world capitals on the "V-J Day".

Narrated by mcbs correspondent Walter Cronkite and other CBS newsmen, the "You Are There" cameras will recreate a momentous half-hour in the history of World War II, starting with the activities in the White House press room.

Following the rumor of a cease-fire, Presidential Press Secretary Charles Ross (Edward Earle) succeeds in convincing the excited newsmen that they must wait another 30 minutes for accurate official word, before releasing their stories to a hopeful world.

A highlight of the program is a scene on the battleship Missouri where CBS reporters record Admiral "Bull" Halsey's memorable words to the men of his command. Dan Riss plays Admiral Halsey. Others in the cast include Dorothy Adams, her real-life daughter, Judith Ames; John Alvin, Robert Burton and Barry Atwater.

Michigan's upper peninsula once produced half the world's supply of copper. Now it furnishes only four per cent of the domestic supply.

Your Health—

Beware of Spoiled Food in the Summer

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Watch out for "summer complaint." That's the polite name we use for acute diarrhea which becomes so common during the hot summer months.

Frequently this diarrhea — we call it dysentery when it is severe — is accompanied by vomiting and nausea.

A sizable number of such cases can be blamed on food poisoning.

Foods most likely to become contaminated by bacteria called staphylococci are milk, ham, poultry and bakery products such as meringue-covered pies, cream puffs and similar goodies.

However, foods found right in your own home also can easily become contaminated if you hold them over from day to day. Dragging them in and out of the refrigerator frequently might give the staphylococcus a chance to poison the foods.

And right here I'd like to sound another warning about handling food in the home. Some of these summer parties and other affairs you probably are planning might have rather unpleasant results if you don't take proper precautions.

A kitchen in hot weather is no place for a gabfest.

When several women get together to make sandwich spreads and and salads for a summer meeting, there is bound to be a lot of talking. That means a lot of time wasted while mixing the ingredients. This might be long enough to permit bacteria to multiply at a favorable temperature.

You've got to be especially careful when preparing creamed potato, turkey, chicken or ham salads or spreads.

If you do become a victim of "summer complaint," the best place for you is in bed. Keep warm and don't take anything by mouth as long as vomiting and nausea persist.

Popular Writing Aids Are Available at BV Library

Popular aids to writing and speaking are now available on the shelves of the Belle Vernon Public Library. Several new books have been secured for readers interested in acquiring the ability to write, and speak in public.

Included are "The Speaker's Encyclopedia of Stories, Quotations and Anecdotes" and "Second Encyclopedia Stories, Quotations and Anecdotes."

Judge Jacob M. Braude presented a treasure chest of speaking material in these two volumes. As encyclopedias of humor they are invaluable, and all entries are arranged in alphabetical order. The volumes contain stories, jokes, proverbs, quotations, philosophies, poems and current comments.

"The Successful Speaker's Handbook" by Herbert V. Prochnow, a past president of the National Toastmaster's Association, gives information on how to put your ideas across. It also contains such information as, how fast to talk, what to do when interrupted, differences in indoor and outdoor speaking and many other speaking aids

"The Writer's Handbook" is a complete guide to all phases of the craft of writing. Each chapter is written by a prominent author, editor or literary agent, who know the way to writing successfully. Also contained in this complete handbook is an up-to-date list of markets for the sale of manuscripts.

"Standard Book of Letter Writing" by Lillian E. Watson presents a quick answer to every question about letter writing. There are 600 sample letters available in this volume.

Harvey Family Reunion Sunday

The 26th annual reunion of the Harvey family will be held on Sunday at Redd's Beach. The day's activities will begin with the serving of a noon hour dinner.

Members of the family and their friends are invited to attend.

Family officers this year are Price Harvey, of Greensboro, president; Chester Harvey, of Indiana, secretary and Gerald Grant, of Monongahela, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt and Mrs. Frank Nicolette, of Belle Vernon, visited yesterday with Mrs. Schmidt's sister, Carolyn Riva, a patient in the Veteran's Hospital, Oakland. Miss Riva is industrial nurse with the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

District Governor To Attend Twp. Lions Meeting

Announcement was made of the forthcoming visit of District Governor Arthur Stratton, when the Washington Township Lions Club met Wednesday evening in the social rooms of the Marion Presbyterian Church.

Stratton, a resident of Murrysville, will attend the next club meeting on Aug. 21. He will be accompanied by Deputy District Governor Ross Aiello, of Monessen.

President Emil Dolfi conducted the session, and the invocation was given by Thompson Kirby. Ed Breakwell led in the group singing.

Arthur Mallonee reported on the carnival conducted last week by the club on the grounds to the rear of Conway's store. Owen Harden gave the financial report for the carnival committee.

Anthony Wiseman discussed the progress of the birthday calendar project, and Harden reported on the ads sold for it.

Ridsy Calderone announced the plans for the annual club picnic, which will be held at Monessen Park on Saturday, Aug. 24. Shelter 2 will be used by the group.

After the meeting concluded there was a short meeting of the executive board. It was decided to send the boys who took part in the Lions baseball league this summer to the baseball game at Forbes Field on Saturday. They will be accompanied by Harry Muckle, Tom Banjor, James Houseman and the other men, who have assisted in the program.

Women of Moose Discuss Plans for 'Mardi Gras'

Senior Regent Thelma Smock was in charge of the Tuesday evening meeting of the Belle Vernon Chapter Women of the Moose held in the lodge rooms.

Edith Thol, chaplain, gave the opening prayer. Junior Regent Alice Mayllen led in the pledge of allegiance.

The women discussed plans for cooperating with the men's lodge to sponsor a kiddies Mardi Gras. The date and other details concerning this activity will be announced.

Members of the Mooseheart Alumni committee were in charge of the social hour. They are Martha Teano, chairman, Mary Bukoski, Alberta Braudon and Ann Nogy.

Martha Teano was awarded the guest prize. Other awards were given to Margaret Lambert and Elizabeth Marciniak.

The birthday of Naomi Brizzi was observed. She was presented with a card and handkerchief and an individual birthday cake.

The next meeting will be held on Aug. 20. The executive board will meet at 7 o'clock and the regular meeting will be at 7:30.

Belle Vernon Board In Routine Meeting

Routine pre-school reports and plans were discussed at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Belle Vernon Board of Education held in the Vernon Junior High School Library.

President George Trozzo was in charge. Directors present were Joseph Hoffman, Jr., Lewis Gilliland, J. E. Kuhn. Also attending were Principal Laura Free, Elementary Supervisor Joseph Brisbane and Bellmarette Joint School Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen. Director Gerald Stanley was absent.

The report of last month's session was given. A booklet was presented from the Pennsylvania Economy League analyzing the Fayette County Public School enrollment.

A report was read from the Department of Public Instruction concerning the integration of Social Security in the school retirement program.

The annual audit was reported as completed. Auditors certified all accounts in good order. Copies of the audit have been posted in accordance with school law, two copies have been sent to the office of Fayette County superintendent, and one has been filed in the office of the county prothonotary. The audit was approved by the board.

Kuhn reported on the State School Directors convention he and Stanley attended at Indiana State Teachers College on July 26, 27 and 28. He outlined the new school laws especially Act 213 requiring public notice of meetings. Kuhn also attended a sectional session regarding school construction.

Census Report

Patsy Cicco submitted the census report as completed indicating that there are 1255 persons 21 years of age or over in the borough of Belle Vernon. The census report was turned over to Miss Free.

Joseph Hoffman, Sr. submitted the treasurer's report and Steven Smith, tax collector, submitted his report.

VanBremen announced that a custodian would be needed at the Marion School due to the resignation of Albert Beeler. He also outlined possible faculty changes.

Jointure committee reports were given. Kuhn reported that the personnel committee was preparing a new salary scale for custodians. It will be presented at the next joint board meeting. He also discussed faculty replacements to be made.

Trozzo reporting for the building and grounds committee stated that the fire escape on the elementary building was repaired and repainted.

The secretary was authorized to make the payment due to the State Public School Building Authority on Sept. 15, and then to apply for the proper reimbursements.

Empower Officers

John E. Costello, solicitor for the Bellmarette Joint School Board, presented a resolution empowering the president and secretary to act for the entire board in case a quorum of the Belle Vernon Board could not be present at the bid opening on Aug. 20, at 1 p. m., in Harrisburg. At this time bids will be opened for the construction of the additions to the Bellmar High School and Marion Junior High School.

Kuhn as chairman of the special building committee requested that as many members of each component board as possible attend this session. Each local board will pay the expenses of its directors who attend.

It was also stated that the financial report has not been prepared for the district to date, since the forms are not yet available from the Department of Public Instruction.

Checks issued were approved.

Birthday Party For John Brown

John Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Brown, of 117 Greenwood St., was honored at a family get-together at his home on Wednesday evening. The occasion marked his eighth birthday anniversary.

Attending were the honored guests's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Poteray; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hynes; his sister, Kathleen and aunt, Norma Poteray.

A birthday cake was served along with other refreshments, and Johnny was presented with gifts.

Another party was held on Sunday marking the birthday anniversary. It was held at the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Winters, of Midland, Md.

Sodality Plans Picnic Sunday

The Young Ladies Sodality groups of the St. Sebastian Church will have a picnic on Sunday at Lake Forest Park. The day's activities will start at 1 p. m.

There will be swimming, badminton, races and contests. Each girl is requested to provide her own luncheon. Members may also bring guests.

Girls who wish to attend are asked to notify the prefect, Dorothy Luzanski or Rosemarie Galiotto. All those going to the park are asked to meet at the church parking lot at noon.

Farewell Party For Lutheran Church Members

Forty-five members and guests of the Church School Association of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church attended a farewell party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kraynek on Vernon Drive on Monday evening.

Guests of honor at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crossland and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lenk. A covered dish supper was served, following which the honored couples were presented with gifts from the members of the Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenk will leave soon for Columbus, Ohio, where Mr. Lenk will attend Seminary, preparatory to entering the ministry. He has taught the Muhlenburg Sunday School Class, with Mrs. Lenk teaching the Good Samaritan Sunday School Class and Vacation Bible School.

Mr. and Mrs. Crossland plan to move to Beckley, West Virginia, where Mr. Crossland now is employed. Mr. Crossland taught in the Intermediate Department on Sundays, and in the week-day church school. Mrs. Crossland was a teacher in the Primary Department of the Sunday School, was a week-day church school teacher, and also taught in the Vacation Bible School.

Ladies Auxiliary At Night Game

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Sutersville firemen attended a night ball game at Forbes Field on Tuesday. Mrs. Louise Lander was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

The Auxiliary group will hold a corn roast at the home of Mrs. Rose Popp on Tuesday, August 13. Chairman for the fete is Mrs. Virginia Minkus assisted by Mrs. Helen Mortle, Mrs. Isabelle Mortle, Mrs. Daria Panizzi and Mrs. Popp.

Food Registration

Westmoreland County distribution officials will hold Surplus Food registration in Sutersville on Wednesday from 11 to 11:30 p. m. in the Fire Hall.
